FOREWORD

IT HAS BEEN OUR ENDEAVOR IN THIS ANNUAL TO PRODUCE SOMETHING NEW, OR AT LEAST TO ARRANGE THE OLD THINGS IN A NEW WAY. NOT THAT THE STEREOTYPED FORM USED IN MOST ANNUALS IS UNSATISFACTORY, BUT THAT WE WOULD LIKE TO RELIEVE THE MONOTONY, AND AT THE SAME TIME PRODUCE AN ANNUAL PORTRAYING THE ACTUAL LIFE AT GUILFORD AS IT HAPPENED MONTH BY MONTH SO THAT AFTER THE SCHOOL YEAR OF 1928-1929 HAS DISAPPEARED IN THE ENDLESS CHAIN OF THE PAST, IT MAY BE RECALLED IN A TRUER AND MORE UNIFIED MEMORY THROUGH THIS BOOK.

AUGUST 31—The curtain is raised. The old familiar scenes are still here. At first sight no life is apparent to the eye, but presently several squirrels appear lazily munching hickory nuts. One car stands alone and desolate in front of Cox Hall. "Wes" Raleigh saunters around the corner of Areldale with his usual slow careful gait so that he will not frighten the squirrels.

Suddenly the scene changes. Dr. Binford emerges from his home and walks rapidly toward Memorial Hall. Our frisky friends scamper hastily across the campus; and wonder of wonders, "Wes" Raleigh changes into second gear. It is perfectly evident that Guilford is about to open for the year.

SEPTEMBER has rolled around again, and to many men and women this means parting from the idle joys of summer rest to follow trails leading to the different colleges.

A part of this group found their way into the gates of Guilford. Some for the first time, others like homing pigeons returning to the old nest.

Guilford was ready to receive them. Coal bins were full. The rooms in the dormitories had been scrubbed from top to bottom. In fact the whole campus looked spick and span.

The old students had some pleasant surprises. On entering the auditorium of Memorial Hall, they saw that it had been completely renovated. Wandering through King Hall, it was seen that the Domestic Science Department had been moved out, and the Economics Department substituted in its place. The Domestic Science Department was to be found in very much improved headquarters in the basement of Founders Hall.

However, it was very much the same Guilford, only dressed up for a new school year.

NORMAN SHEPARD,
Coach

SEPTEMBER 3—Most of the prospective football players were in camp to meet Norman Shepard, Guilford's new coach. Although a fairly large number were present, backfield recruits were appallingly scarce.

The experienced backs from last year either did not return to school or were unable to take part in athletics. However, the line showed greater promise than it had for several seasons. The boys showed interest and were willing to work, but Coach Shepard was rather pessimistic as to the success of the coming season due to the lack of backfield and reserve material.

WILMER STEELE,
Manager

SEPTEMBER 6—Many of the different members of the teaching staff rolled in today. Mrs. Andrews was the first to arrive, having as a close second Mr. Pancoast, who claimed to have had a leisurely trip down from Pennsylvania, averaging only fifty-five miles an hour.

Miss Gainey according to local reports rounded the curve leading into the gate at fully ten miles an hour. The reason for this astounding conduct must certainly have had to do with the receiving of Freshmen checks at the due hour.

By nightfall most of the faculty, old and new, had assembled to assist in Freshman week.

The intellectual caliber of this fellowship of scholarly men and women is suggested in the following picture. The bald headed row represents the old guard, the capable looking persons in the second row were not in Guilford before the beginning of the twentieth century, and the back row is made up of callow freshmen. All the animals appeared for the picture, but Mr. and Mrs. Noah did not arrive.

Dr. Lofton, Miss Miles, Miss Bruce, Mr. Mumford, Mr. Shepard, Mr. Purdom,
Mr. Turner, Miss Gilbert, Miss Ricks, Mr. Williams, Mr. McCracken, Mr. Trueblood, Mrs. Andrews,
Mr. Davis, Dr. Binford, Miss Gainey, Dr. Perisho, Mr. Pancoast, Miss Campbell, Mr. Haworth,
Mr. Newlin, Miss Last y.

Freshman Week

*Freshmen meeting freshmen
Hurrying to and fro;
Rattle-brained, shatter-brained,
Bewildered group they go.*

*Ferocious proffs, 'neath wrinkled brows,
Observed them one by one—
Scrutinizing, analyzing,
The sages had begun.*

*They shoved them thru the President's den;
Their family trees uprooted.
And after this, their pocketbooks
Miss Gainey finally looted.*

*A series then of social meets,
Exams, and tests galore;
Agonizing, socializing,
Soon Freshman week was o'er!*

SEPTEMBER 12 — There was much excitement registered on the campus today, for classes began. Questions and exclamations as to books, meeting places of classes, schedules, credit hours, teachers, stiffness of courses, graduation, and crisp courses could be heard from all sides.

Of course no real work was done, but assignments were given and a little idea of what the courses were to be about was bestowed upon the students.

SEPTEMBER 15- At night the annual reception in honor of both new and old students, given by the "Y. M." and "Y. W." was held in the Library.

This night is always looked forward to with a great deal of anxiety, mingled with pleasure, by the Freshmen. The upper classmen assume many different attitudes toward it. Many enjoy this night, some take it as a matter-of-course, while a few of the more or less sophisticated adopt an air of indifference or boredom. However, on the whole, most of these receptions are enjoyed by the greater part of those who attend.

At 7:30 the students began to line up and immediately marched to the library where they were introduced to the faculty. After the new students got acquainted with the old ones by the self-introductory method, punch was served, walks were taken in the moonlight, and an air of good natured joviality, with little stiffness, seemed to prevail. Many alumni and friends of the college attended and the occasion was a very successful and happy one.

The Quaker

McBane

Chisholm

Beamon

SEPTEMBER 22—When the first grid contest of the season came in sight, the prospects for a winning team were wretched. Every regular backfield man had been lost through graduation or physical inabilities. However, the Quaker team put up a creditable exhibition against Davidson, especially in the first half. They held Davidson to one lone touchdown during the first period.

However, due to inexhaustible reserve material the Davidson warriors scored three more times in the last half, the final score being 27-0.

McBane and Chisholm showed up well in the Quaker backfield and Beamon was outstanding in the line.

SEPTEMBER 26—The faculty enjoyed a picnic at Troxler's Mill east of Greensboro.

SEPTEMBER 27—The Freshmen girls were entertained by the Sophomore girls at a picnic supper at Mendenhall Springs.

Check

Cox

Bunn

SEPTEMBER 29—Although the Campbell game bore no titular significance, it brightened the heretofore gloomy prospect of producing a winning football club. Bunn, Cox, and Check were the big guns of the Quaker offense. Bunn was the most consistent ground gainer for Shepard's outfit, while Cox and Check assisted him ably. "Ashleboro" Cox featured the game by making a thrilling forty yard run through a broken field. The Guilford line was impregnable and never weakened before the onslaught of the lighter team.

Marshall was injured in this game and for this reason was out for most of the rest of the season.

The team worked together well as a whole, and this was the greatest factor in licking Campbell 19-0.

OCTOBER

OCTOBER 6—Invading the camp of the Roanoke Maroons the Quakers met with a 33-9 defeat. However, Roanoke had one of the strongest teams, especially in their passing attack, in Virginia. The Quaker line held like a stone wall and Guilford made as many first downs as their opponents, but the dazzling aerial attack of the Virginia team was responsible for the rather bad loss.

OCTOBER 6—The pilgrimage of the Guilford students and faculty to the scene of the Battle of Guilford Courthouse took place today. It is one of the most firmly established of Guilford's traditions that each year one day shall be set aside to visit the scene of this great battle of the Revolution.

The party of pilgrims left Founders Hall in the early afternoon and eagerly followed the well worn trail through the woods to the Battle Ground and upon arriving the welcome odor of coffee and the signs of preparation for a feast greeted the hikers. While waiting for these preparations to be completed divers forms of amusement were enjoyed. Two by two the students went boat riding, strolled to and fro looking at the monuments and taking pictures. The welcome summons to refreshments of hot dogs, rolls, and coffee was obeyed with great haste. After this enjoyable interlude the group gathered before the towering statue of Nathaniel Greene, and the venerable Doctor Perisho recounted again the thrilling drama of the great battle in a manner that made the whole scene stand out vividly.

Shortly afterwards the hikers footsore, but elated and happy, set out on their return journey. Another tradition had been fulfilled, another day had been happily spent.

The Quaker

OCTOBER 15—On Tuesday evening, at eight o'clock, the Sophomore class held its regular meeting. About forty members were present. The meeting was called to order by the president, Sam Boose. The first business to come before the meeting was the presentation, for ratification, of the contract for the purchase of college rings by the Seniors. After reading, discussing, and re-reading parts of the document, it was ratified by the unanimous vote of the members, and the president was authorized to sign the document, this being done promptly.

Following this business, there was an interesting discussion as to the time and form of future meetings. After much deliberation and discussion, all of which took place in a formal and orderly manner, it was decided that the class should meet on the third Tuesday evening of each month at eight o'clock. It was also decided that a program committee should provide a program for these meetings. This committee was appointed by the president. There being no further business, the class adjourned until the next regular meeting.

To the above reproductions, the Guilford Student body, the athletic teams, and in fact, the whole college owes much. Their own enthusiasm and earnest efforts proved contagious and as a result Guilford's student body really backed her teams this year. Steele and King have acted in this role for four years and their departure will be deeply regretted. Shore and Engeman, judging by their showing this year, will be a valuable aid to this department of college life next year.

OCTOBER 20—Contrary to expectations, the Quaker gridmen dropped a hard fought game to the Lynchburg Hornets. Guilford received the initial kick off and began an uninterrupted march down the field that resulted in a touchdown before the game was four minutes old. During the remainder of the first half neither team scored though "Ashboro" Cox made some good gains and threatened to get loose several times.

The last half was a different story as the Hornets showed an entire reversal of form and scored twice. Their last score came on the final play of the game.

Mrs. MAX NOAH

OCTOBER 24—Guilford had the privilege of hearing Mrs. Dorothy Wilbur Noah in her first formal voice recital since she came to Guilford this year. The audience was delighted with her beautiful rendition of song. She was assisted at the piano by Mr. Max Noah. Guilford is very fortunate to have Mrs. Noah among the faculty. She is especially talented in music and expression and is directing the Euphonians this year as well as having added a course in expression to the curriculum of the college.

OCTOBER 26—During the 1927 football season, the Elon Christians invaded the camp of their ancient rivals, and handed the Quakers a stinging defeat. This year Guilford resolved to turn the tables. And so it came to pass.

The Guilford student body migrated to Elon and saw their team trample the Elonites under foot. The score which was 7-0 does not indicate such a walk away, but practically the whole game was played in the vicinity of Elon's goal. Stan Moore ripped through the Christians line consistently for eight and ten yards. He carried the ball across for a touchdown. It was hard to see how a team could gain so much ground without rolling up a large score. Marshall, despite his injury, went into the fray and fought until he had to be carried off the field. Lippincott, a late edition to the squad, played a stellar game at tackle.

OCTOBER 26—The Philomathean Literary Society entertained the Henry Clay Literary Society tonight. The Clays were honorary guests at the regular meeting of the Phils. After the business of the evening was dispensed with, an interesting program was given, followed by refreshments.

NOVEMBER

Holt

Francis

NOVEMBER 3—Having defeated the strong Elon Club, the Quakers resolved to create a disturbance in the Little Six Conference. They met A. C. C. with this purpose in mind and sent them home with the little end of 21-0 score.

In this game Holt made his debut as a punter. He averaged forty yards, sometimes getting off a sixty yard punt. The Guilford reserves saw action in this game, Barclay Newlin and Francis playing brilliantly. Parrish scored two of the three touchdowns.

In defeating the Little Christians, Guilford got revenge for another 1927 defeat; and went up another notch toward the conference title.

NOVEMBER 3—The Faculty Club gave three one-act plays.

NOVEMBER 6—Herbert Hoover defeated Alfred E. Smith in the national election.

NOVEMBER 12—Captain Noel, in the first Lyceum number, gave a very good lecture on the subject of Mt. Everest.

NOVEMBER 19—At a very charming party, this evening, Mrs. Emily Levering announced the engagement of her daughter, Elizabeth, to Dr. Charles N. Ott, of Tulsa, Oklahoma. For two years, Doctor Ott was the head of the Department of Chemistry at Guilford College. It was also announced that they would be married in the summer of 1929.

NOVEMBER 21—Founders was a scene of wild excitement about midnight when the President of the Women's Student Government found the halls full of smoke. The fire drill worked perfectly and the building was soon cleared by the excited girls with such clothes as they did not have on, carried under their arms.

The fire was discovered to be in the coal bin of the power plant back of Founders, and the boys aided by firemen from Greensboro soon made a very formidable swimming pool out of the concrete container by filling it with all available water.

Mr. Turner later inaugurated a new sport, received his baptism, and passed his deep sea diving test all in one, when a pile of coal on which he was standing suddenly caved in. He, not wishing to upset all scientific order by proving Sir Isaac Newton's law of gravity to be false, gracefully submerged into the inky waters of the pool. On emerging he reported that as far as he could tell the fire was out.

The Quaker

Was there not a poet who said that the tree was nature's richest gift? In its branches nests are built, the prettiest songs are sung, and the happiest lives are found. Yet countless millions of these wonder works of nature are sacrificed to provide homes for the infinite millions of humanity. But some of the giants of the ages still stand to watch the march of time and the rush of the hurrying generations.

Such a patriarch of the oak family stands in the New Garden Cemetery back of the campus. It has seen the long line of Quaker progression from the collarless coat and Quaker bonnet to the collegiate "Jazz bow" and lipstick; and has seen the frontier with its primeval wilderness develop into the center of a foremost commonwealth. If someone could only interpret its whispers, the story of ages would unfold. What could it not tell of Nathan Hunt, Dolly Payne Madison, Lord Cornwallis, Nathaniel Green, Joe Cannon, Nereus Mendenhall, and countless others who have passed beneath its shadows? Generations of students have sought the quiet and solitude of this rendezvous. That is the reason for the appeal of President and Mrs. Hobbs for the preservation of its declining greatness, and that is why we see it placed in the Hall of Fame for trees.

NOVEMBER 24—The Quakers met the Lenoir Rhyne Bears at the World War Memorial Stadium in Greensboro. Despite a two weeks lay off, the Guilford grid men utterly crushed Lenoir Rhyne by the count of 34-6.

Ray Parrish, all conference fullback, scored twice before the Bears got their claws on the ball. Three more touchdowns followed in the course of the game. The visitors scored only once and that was near the close of the game when the Guilford team was almost entirely reserve material.

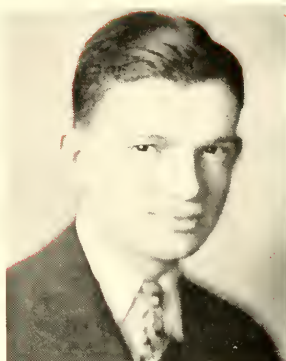

The whole team showed an improvement over the last game. The line was working very effectively both on offense and on defense. The backs plunged harder and ran much better interference. However, it is only fair to Lenoir-Rhyne to say that they were crippled by several previous injuries.

Cal Wray and Murphy were very good reasons why the Bears couldn't come through the Quaker line. This game revenged another 1927 defeat, and pulled the championship honors within reaching distance.

A. SCOTT PARKER
Business Manager

NOVEMBER 26—Stanley Moore was chosen editor of the 1929 Quaker at a recent meeting of the senior class. The other members of the staff, elected at this time, were Mildred Kimrey, managing editor, Scott Parker, business manager, and Justice Strickland, photographic manager. The action taken by the senior class is the outgrowth of the persistent agitation of several organizations, including the student affairs board, and a group within the class who felt that the publication of an annual was necessary to help clear the existing debt.

NOVEMBER 29—On Thanksgiving Day the Quaker warriors marched into the Catawba camp in search of scalps. The Indians were very much attached to their scalps and resolved not to relinquish them without a struggle.

One of the bloodiest battles of the year ensued. Guilford scored a touchdown in the very first few minutes of play, for the only score of the game. From then on it was nip and tuck. Twice an Indian back got entirely clear of the field with the pigskin under his arm and twice did a fleet Quaker apprehend him from the rear. Stan Moore and Johnny Love distinguished themselves in this manner.

The whole team played a good defensive game with Captain Hoyle outstanding in his final encounter. Cal Wray and "Hop" Ragan also played well on the defense, especially in the last half.

This game completed the 1928 season, and decided that the championship should fall to Guilford College.

NOVEMBER 29—There were so many things to be thankful for Thanksgiving Day that we hardly knew for what to be most thankful; probably St. Peter was the judge of this when he received the respective Thanksgiving appeals that went up from the Guilford campus.

The clear sound of the Founders bell resounded at six-thirty. Eds and coeds alike, realizing that they would have early callers, sprang to the floor half asleep. Some later in the morning visits were exchanged between these two groups. The first thing then that the boys and girls in common had to be thankful for was that Thanksgiving came but once a year.

Every campus vehicle with wheels and speed was dusted off on the way to Salisbury after lunch. The hosts at Salisbury had the right side of the bleachers draped in grey and crimson for their guests. Every guest that had a voice used it from the beginning to the end of the game.

The Crimson Eleven were received more elaborately when returning to the campus than was the Prodigal Son. The wounded of the game pulled their aches, pains, and long faces with their uniforms; and put on their tuxedos and smiles just in time to get to the elaborate banquet set at Founders. The center of the dining hall was lined off like a football field with tables on either side representing a stadium. Students sat on either side (bleachers). The team with their ladies sat in the center.

After the banquet, the party gathered around the bonfire. Inspiring speeches peppering up the entire party were made by members of the team.

It is doubtful whether or not Dr. Binford will be able to find kindling wood after the series of victories Hoyle's men have piled up this year.

Zatasian Literary Society

NOVEMBER 30--At one of the most charming functions ever given in honor of another society, the Zatasians entertained the members of the Websterian Literary Society at their annual reception last Friday evening.

The program, especially prepared for the occasion, was held in Memorial Hall. The feature of this part of the evening's entertainment was a three-act play.

The program was followed by a formal reception held in Founders Hall. Later a buffet supper was served. The menu consisted of creamed chicken and timbals, olive and date-nut sandwiches, coffee, ice cream and cake, and mints.

The Quaker

DECEMBER 6—The Minnesingers sang their way to a second place in the state contest. The Club got several worthwhile compliments on their tone quality as well as general excellence, one coming from an eminent New York music critic.

DECEMBER 8—The Dramatic Council presented "Icebound." The play was given before a rather large audience. The production was classed among the best, if not the best, ever given at Guilford. Esther Reece and Stanley Moore played the leading roles.

DECEMBER 12—An appreciative audience enjoyed a formal recital given by the piano and voice students of the music department. Each student showed skill and persistent practice by the numbers rendered. It is to be regretted that some of the students on the program were not able to perform on account of illness.

NOW it did come to pass in the days of the Yuletide in the year that Herbert did force Alfred to join the ranks of the unemployed, that there did gather together the council of six, and of this number three were traditional Yankees and strangers in the land, for they did hail from the provinces of Penn and of York.

And many subjects were brought out of the dark recess of their souls and discussed among themselves, for the spirit of Aristotle did walk among them.

But about the twelfth hour of the night famine did sweep over the land and did lay a heavy hand upon their number.

Then Luther, the Cowboy, accompanied by Samuel of prohibition fame, did journey forth in search of nourishment, and with the fear of firearms in their hearts, they did procure a fowl from its roosting place.

Upon their return there was much rejoicing, and in a body they did repair to the shop of Jazz who was a mender of soles, and in the wee hours of the morning Glenn, the store keeper, aided by "Leggio," the chief server, and Pat, the arguifier, did prepare the feast and they ate with much relish.

And on the morrow there did come to them the good shepherd seeking his fowl. Then with consternation in their hearts they did plead and rationalize their conduct, but he did harden his heart and only simoleons would prevail upon him. But at last on the ratio of half a dozen to one he went away satisfied. And straightway that country was swept with a terrible plague.

DECEMBER 13—Guilford students were enabled to enjoy a few extra holidays during Christmas vacation, that is if they were not sick, because of a severe epidemic of influenza which swept through the college claiming about seventy-five per cent of the students as its victims.

At first it was thought that we would be able to survive the epidemic, but such a large percentage of the students were affected that Dr. Binford and committee determined it not wise to continue classes under such a handicap. School was discontinued and holidays declared at noon today.

JANUARY

JANUARY 3—School opened following the extended Christmas holidays. It was rather hard for most of the students to settle down to the routine of school life after so much leisure.

Some reports give evidence that a high old time was had, but for the most part it seems that the vacation was enjoyed quietly at home. However, the call to study had to be answered, for mid-term exams were drawing alarmingly near.

JANUARY 4—The varsity basketball practice was in full sway. The whole squad reported in good physical condition after the holidays. The players seemed to have their eyes on the basket with goals being made in rapid succession. The prospects for a winning team seemed very bright at this time.

JANUARY 11—"Good one," "Out," "Our ball," "Knock it back," "Whooppee!" A stranger passing the "Gym" would wonder what was taking place inside; but such exclamations are quite common during the volley ball season. The girls seem to derive a real pleasure from this sport. It is among the regular gym work and the girls never seem to mind class when they can play volley ball.

On the following two pages may be seen the different teams. The best players from each of the classes make up these class teams. These chosen teams play against each other to determine the champion.

JANUARY 12—In the first collegiate encounter of the year Norman Shepard's basketballers met and defeated their rivals of long standing, the Elonites, on their own court. The count at the final gun was 28-25.

The Quakers started the game by unleashing a dazzling offense that completely bewildered the Christians and resulted in a 19-8 count at the half. The Elonites were not to be so easily vanquished, and began a rally which threatened the Guilford lead. This rally was eventually stopped however by the Guilford players strengthening their defense. Alley led the Quaker attack with 12 points while Caddell with 8 was Elon's high scorer.

Guilford College Community Chorus

JANUARY 13—Sunday afternoon the Guilford College Community Choral Society gave the first program of its kind in the annals of the college—a complete presentation of the Messiah. The production was made possible by the intensive co-operation of more than a hundred college students, and people of the community, with several special solists from Greensboro, under the directorship of Max Noah.

The Men's Student Government has for its motto, "See, hear, and know no evil." Not being detectives nor campus policemen the members think it best that they should labor under no false illusions, and to adopt the policy of "laissez faire." On the other hand the organization does hold a bit of disciplinary power shown once or twice when placed between the proverbial inferno and the deep blue. On these occasions, to avoid more drastic action by higher powers, the council has proclaimed quarantines to certain students for the cure of epidemics of nicotine and chronic cases of general disturbance. One of the most memorable meetings at which such action took place occurred January 15.

Be it understood here, though, that the council does exert a good influence, and no doubt renders its service, especially by producing a spirit of co-operation between the students and faculty. This service is mainly due to the hearty backing given it by the entire student body.

JANUARY 16—The ferocious Flu was fast fleeing from Guilford folds. Precautious patients were one by one emerging from their beds and gradually taking on the regular routine of class work, cautious efforts being taken on the part of each one to avoid any danger of a "back set" or to spread the epidemic. The efforts proved of good avail and Guilford was slowly coming back to normal again.

JANUARY 20—The Truchblood's held open house this evening, as they do every Sunday evening, for those of liberal tendencies who have questions to discuss. Some say the students who usually meet at the Dean's residence are heretics, while others would only call them seekers. The discussion tonight dealt with Russia, many feeling that they needed to broaden their sympathies by a more complete understanding of other countries and cultures.

Martin and his Daddy

No one subject holds the attention of these liberals for long and no subject is continued when the interest in it lags. Those who meet at this rendezvous manifest an interest in everything in the world, but they come back to religion most frequently. They seem to be devoutly religious, but not according to the conventional pattern.

The gathering at the Truchblood's is not a club in the ordinary sense of the word, for there are no officers and no members. Anyone is free to come and anyone is free to stay away. Some come once and are too shocked to return, but the majority become converted to the free spirit.

JANUARY 21—At the meeting of the Student Affairs Board, the subject under discussion was cheating of students on examinations.

The set of regulations regarding such offenses, composed by the personnel committee, was discussed by the board. It was finally decided that for the first offense a student would be required to leave school for a week, interview the President of the College, and discontinue all student activities for the quarter. The second offense was to be punished still more rigorously, while a third offense would mean expulsion from college.

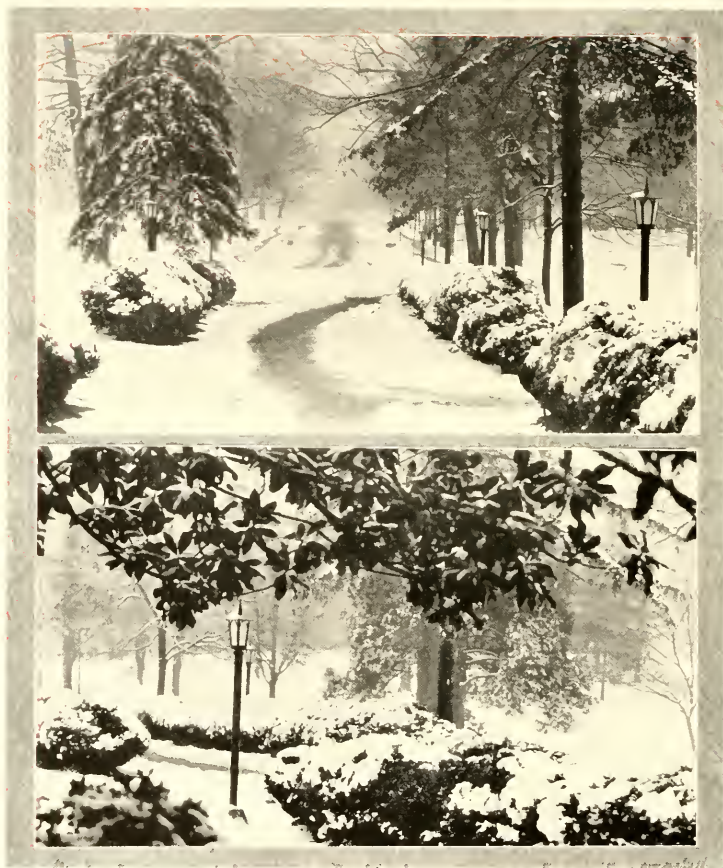

The Student Affairs Board is composed of representatives from the different organizations and activities. The Board acts as a centralizing and unifying aid for all these organizations represented. Its powers are not so clearly defined as yet, however it has proved useful in several ways.

Its two greatest accomplishments so far are the annual campus-wide election day and the point system, giving the number of activities which a student may enter.

The Quaker

Old Man Winter visited the campus last night leaving a trail of splendor behind him.

FEBRUARY

FEBRUARY 1—Those students who had managed to escape for a few days now returned with light hearts and new determination to study hard and conquer all. Light hearted? Why not? Was it not four more long months before they would again undergo the throes of examinations? So with the prospect of a peaceful, carefree life were they returning.

How thoughtless for them to have overlooked one all-important detail—but not for long. Maud L. Gainey, dauntless treasurer of Guilford College, was, as usual, on the alert; soon bills and reminders of bills unpaid began to flow thick and fast.

This brutal shock of reality dulled the joy and pleasure of the would-be carefree ones and so with reluctant steps and gasping pocket books they slowly wended their way to the office of Guilford's very efficient receiver of revenue.

Throughout the siege of checks and alibis Miss Gainey sat with regal bearing, the complete master of the situation and with cool eye and steady hand gathered in the monetary harvest that marked the beginning of the new semester.

FEBRUARY 1—Miss Gilbert returned at the beginning of the second semester to resume her work in the English department. By studying last summer and last semester she got her Master's Degree in English from Columbia University. Miss North very efficiently performed Miss Gilbert's duties in her absence.

FEBRUARY 5—The Criterion Quartette of New York pleased a large audience by singing a varied group of songs and melodies.

The Guilfordian Board

This year the annual Guilfordian banquet was held at the King Cotton Hotel on February 7. At this time the officers for the coming year were installed.

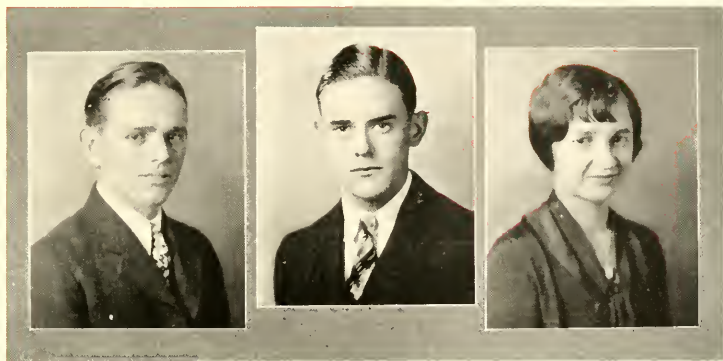

The new staff is made up entirely of Sophomores. James Harper succeeds Edwin Rozell as editor-in-chief; Ruth Outland succeeds Alice Hazard as managing editor. Hale Newlin, the only member of the staff who is an upper classman, was elected last fall.

The prospect for the coming year is not as brilliant as it could be. The Guilfordian is in a somewhat precarious financial condition and this fact coupled with the inexperience of the staff makes any rapid steps toward improvement seem a bit doubtful.

Nevertheless, the new staff, though green, is willing to work and if they succeed in getting the Guilfordian back on a sound basis once more, the year will be a success.

FEBRUARY 9—Saturday afternoon the Young Women's Student Government Council of Guilford College was hostess to the Guilford County association of Deans of Women and Student Government Presidents. This was the third meeting of this body, whose purpose it is to bring the deans and student representatives of the different colleges into closer relationship and to enable them to exchange ideas on their common problems.

The colleges represented were High Point, N. C. C. W., Greensboro College, and Guilford.

After an interesting and instructive program presented by several of the visiting young ladies, tea and sandwiches were served. A delightful time was had by all.

The Quaker

FEBRUARY 13—With a much weakened team, the crippled Quakers hobbled into Virginia. The first encounter was at Bridgewater to whom they bowed with a 34-29 defeat. There were no alibis attached to this game. The loss was deserved because of poor guarding and hectic shooting. Marshall was injured in this game. Van der Voort was high scorer for Guilford and showed indications of developing into the player he proved to be in the Wake Forest game.

FEBRUARY 14—Next the Quakers met the Richmond Blues, a strong professional team. In this game the Guilford lads gave the Blues a run for their money. The Guilford aggregation, however, was nosed out 26-22. Chisholm was high scorer in this game. The tilt was close throughout, and some of the Richmond players stated that it was their hardest game of the season. Some of the pessimism was lost by the Quakers after this game and a resolve was made to secure at least one victory before they went home.

FEBRUARY 15—With the last game of the trip came a Quaker victory. The encounter proved to be very close throughout with one team ahead and then the other. The victory was largely due to Stan Moore, the fast center, who could get loose to score almost at will. He was responsible for 11 of his team's 23 points. Never did either team have a substantial lead, and it was great relief when the gun sounded with the score 23-22 in Guilford's favor.

FEBRUARY 18—The Demon Deacons invaded the Quaker camp confident of victory, having defeated Guilford early in the season. They returned to Wake Forest with the light end of a 30-21 count. Van der Voort and Alley led in scoring, with Van working the floor exceptionally well. Yelverton and Chisholm, together with Moore did some close guarding. Scarboro was the only Deacon to solve effectively the Quaker defense. He rang up 8 points.

Near the close of last semester Dean Trueblood asked all prospective debaters to meet in King 2 for organization. A host of men arrived, all of them full of forensic zeal, and willing to work hard on the first day. Prominent among these were Leslie Murphy and Barclay Newlin, while James Harper and Talmadge Knight also showed fine promise as contestants for places on the team. When the Dean explained the course of training, including practice in public speaking and reading in the library, the countenances of some visibly dropped. It appeared that their only interest lay in the thrill of actual verbal combat with the wranglers of Elon or High Point. Two veterans from last year were in the group, Edwin Rozell and Clare Trueblood.

Debating Team

FEBRUARY 23—Due to the keen competition for places on the debating team, eight men were selected, after preliminary tryouts, to compete for places on the team. The finals were held in Memorial Hall tonight, and the following men spoke on the jury system: Eugene Hire, Clare Trucloud, Rembert Patrick, Ben Beach, Edwin Rozell, Edward Blair, Alton Tew, and Mr. Matthews. The judges decided that Edwin Rozell, Rembert Patrick, Eugene Hire, and Clare Trucloud were the best fitted to represent Guilford in debates with High Point, Elon, and Lenoir-Rhyne Colleges, while Edward Blair and Benjamin Beach were appointed as alternates. The high water mark of the season was the defeat of Furman University by Rozell and Trucloud.

FEBRUARY 26—The Freshmen basketball team of Guilford College defeated Clemmons High tonight by the overwhelming count of 31-10. The game at half time stood 8-7 in favor of the visitors but a whirlwind attack led by Stont caught the High School quintet off its guard and turned the second half into a devastating rout.

Freshmen basketball this year has been a highly successful one, the team trouncing some of the stronger teams from the surrounding neighborhood.

FEBRUARY 27—An enthusiastic corps of gridiron knights received their armor and after mastering the intricacies of arraying themselves, the two squads, under Hoyle and Murphy and their assistants from the letter men, trotted out to their practice fields to begin a two weeks course in fundamentals. The practices went off in down pours of rain, stinging hail storms, and the slush following.

The day of the first game came with Murphy's "Golden Stream" betting heavily on their line, composed almost entirely of second string men of last fall, supported by some fairly good backfield material. Hoyle's "Iron Men" were silent as to their prospects, but in the first few minutes of the game Cude was able to rise to the surface of the mud and toss a pass to Haworth who splashed over the goal line. With Patrick playing a great defensive game, the "Iron Men" held their opponents till near the end when a safety was scored upon them. The game ended 7-2 in favor of the "Iron Men."

About a week later the second game of the series took place. It was also played in a sea of mud. Practically the only bright light of this game, which was marred by numerous fumbles due to bad climatic conditions, was the stellar playing of Irvin Davis for the "Golden Stream." The "Golden Stream" evened the count in games won by winning 7-0 due to a fumble which was recovered and carried across the line for a touchdown by Rosenfelt.

Spivey, Mgr., Coach Shepard, Check, Ayers, Chisholm,
Moore, Van der Voort, Marshall, Alley, Yelverton.

Basketball Squad

FEBRUARY 28—With the previous defeat to avenge, the Elon warriors arrived at Guilford College with blood in their eyes. The Quakers were determined to reaffirm their supremacy, a royal battle ensued. Both teams fought desperately. The score at the half was 10-10. In the second period Guilford got away to a 7 point lead, but in the last few minutes of play, Elon overcame this lead and won 29-27.

This was the final game of the 1929 basketball season which could hardly be termed a successful one. Our defeats outnumbered our victories 12 to 6. However we do not hesitate in saying that we had championship material. Injuries, sickness, and scholastic deficiency certainly took its toll, and to them we feel justified in attributing at least some of our defeats.

CURRIE SPIVEY, Manager

Currie had a rather hard time getting his schedule arranged, but he worked hard and certainly earned his manager's letter.

REGINALD MARSHALL, Captain

Although "Reg" was on the injured list a great deal of the time, he gained a place of high respect in the estimation of his opposing forwards. His guarding was close and his floor work clever.

STANLEY MOORE, Center

The man who could get the "tip-off" from Stan Moore was good. On a large court, Stan just wouldn't be stopped—ask the Roanoke boys.

GEORGE YELVERTON, Guard

Little George "Apple" Yelverton was consistency personified. He combined with his air tight guarding a shooting ability that made him high scorer in more than one game.

ROBERT VAN DER VOORT, Forward

Van der Voort didn't get a chance to show his wares until the Virginia trip. After that, "Dutchman" played in every game—and how?

GRANVILLE ALLEY, Forward

This was Granville Alley's first year as regular forward, nevertheless he held the high scorer position for quite a while. Just watch his dust next year.

ROBERT AYERS, Forward

Robert Ayers has been scrapping under Guilford colors for four years now. "Blue" uses both hands or one; he puts 'em in either way.

DILLARD CHISHOLM, Guard

Chisholm, besides acting as clown for the team, was an indispensable member of the Quaker defense. He didn't have to get crips; he could slip them in from anywhere on the court.

Before last year the Guilford girls were privileged to take part in the Girls Chorus that gave a spring and fall home concert. Last year was the reformation of this Chorus into the Euphonian Glee Club under the efficient directorship of Max Noah. The most noticeable reform was that the Euphonians were to have off campus concerts.

The matrimonial union of Mr. Max Noah and Miss Dorothy Wilbur brought the Euphonians their second capable director and co-worker. Concerts have been given in nearby towns and high schools. The Euphonian home concert was a much enjoyed event of the year here March 16. We attribute the success of the Club to Mrs. Noah's faithful efforts and the co-operation of the thirty-two members.

Quaker Board

MARCH 18—The Quaker went to press today and there was much rejoicing among the members of the Board. Early and late, for the last two weeks especially, the work went smoothly on. In reality it was only partially smooth, for there were some storms and rumors of storms, a little frenzy of worry for fear the copy would not be ready for the publisher, and even some dissension between the managing editor and the editor. By the way, the editor was a terrible grouch, nothing seemed to suit him except what he wrote himself and, confidentially, that was rotten.

However, for better or for worse the greater part of the material went in today.

MARCH 23—"Sun-up" was the second very successful play presented by the Dramatic Council this year. Mary Lou Wilkins starred in this production. "Sun-up" is a portrayal of North Carolina Mountain people and the whole cast gave good characterizations.

The Dramatic Council presents two plays each year for the benefit of the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. However in the near future it plans to become a separate organization and to use all proceeds in building up a larger dramatic department.

Baseball Squad

By March 25, Coach Shepard had whipped his baseball charges into fair shape. He was greatly handicapped, having only four lettermen reporting. The pitching staff was especially weak, Rabb having failed to return and Coltrane having lost his amateur standing by playing professional baseball during the summer.

Marshall and Captain Parrish were strongest contenders for outfield positions while "Asheboro" Cox and "Swampy" Stout were racing for the other berth. Chisholm and Fukasawa, Hendrix, and Bunn looked best on first, second, and third bases respectively and Check was most frequently located at short stop.

Melvin, a letterman, and Davis were scrapping it out behind the home plate. Melvin had the advantage of experience while Davis flashed a mean peg to second. There were no lettermen among the hurling aspirants. Sykes, a Freshman, was assured of seeing action. Zachary, Pierce, Harper, Stafford, and McBane also indicated a desire to function at the business end of the battery.

Shepard has seen considerable coaching as well as professional experience and, although we cannot expect a championship team, we are confident that Coach will produce a team equivalent to the capabilities of its members.

Tennis Squad

MARCH 25—With the loss of only one letterman, the tennis team seems in line for another successful season. Mackie graduated last spring, but there are plenty of aspirants for the vacant position. Stan Moore, Yelverton, Van der Voort, Spivey, and Floyd Cox, all lettermen, are back and working hard to get in shape for the first tilt. Matches with Catawba, Elon, and Lenoir-Rhyne have already been arranged and others are pending.

Tennis is a popular sport at Guilford and those who make letters are necessarily good. There is always a large number of candidates scrapping for a place on the team. A trip into South Carolina is being planned by Manager Yelverton. Yelverton was handicapped by his class work last year, but it seems that he will be eligible this year, and is one of the best on the squad. He is working hard on the schedule and hopes to furnish more victories for his team than preceding managers have produced.

Henry Clay Literary Society

MARCH 26—The Oratorical contest of the Henry Clay Literary Society combined with the regular college oratorical contest was held tonight. There were three speakers each holding the interest of a rather small audience remarkably well. The winner of the contest was Clare Trucloud.

APRIL, 2—Marks the beginning of the last quarter, the last lap down the home stretch for the Seniors, and the reminder to the courting couples to speed up lest June over take them and find them with work that's yet unfinished. Mother Nature seems to lend her gentle charm to aid the child god in directing the mortal darts of love.

The campus seems to sense the fact that time is limited and even she puts on a spring attire as though in hopes that she, too, may lure some unsuspecting lover and weave about him the mystic spell.

The days grown longer in their beauty, linger still to shed their light upon the games of the students who derive great pleasure in gamboling on the lawn. But the sun persists in lingering as though half suspicious and loth to leave the frolicking lads and lasses to the mercies of the moon.

Reality, in all its sordid frankness, refuses to surrender a commanding hold upon the happy, carefree children of pleasure. Over all this picture of joy and happiness there hangs an ominous cloud of threatening hue—the final exams.

But youth refuses to tarry long o'er things which suggest of evil and so with light hearts and neglecting minds they dash away into the fourth lap with never a thought that sees beyond the morrow.

Women's Tennis Squad

"Boys and girls may play tennis together any period during the day. . . ." This statement from the student government officials made tennis even more popular than it had been before.

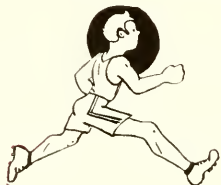

All during the day from September till December in the fall, and from early April till June in the spring, early and late, the courts are occupied by girls enjoying the sport and at the same time preparing for the class games. These class games come later in the spring, and much interest is taken as to the outcome both by the girls and by the boys.

Track Squad

APRIL 5—With practically the same schedule as that of 1928, and prospects of a Little Six Meet, the 1929 track team is assured of plenty of action. Having lost only two lettermen, Pate and Ed. Moore, the cindermen should produce an even better team than that of 1928, which captured the Little Six Championship, and placed fifth in the State Meet. Hoyle, Holt, Murphy, Short, and Garner are the best bets in the field events this year. Harper, Jassimedes, Short, Haworth, and Ragan will take care of the dashes and hurdles. Stan Moore, who has never lost a 440 race on the home track, was forced out of the dashes because of heart trouble but will probably take part in the broad and high jump. Ragan is an ace in the 440. He is experienced and has run it in 52 seconds. At present he is out for baseball and does not know whether he will run or not. Captain Coble, who is the peer of all Little Six distance men, will undoubtedly garner his share of points as usual. William Alley is showing up well in the distance events and Fukasawa, Japanese Marathoner, may come out for the distances later.

Dean Trueblood is coaching the squad and with the number of promising new track aspirants, should turn out a creditable team.

Women's Track Squad

Many early morning dreamers have been suddenly awakened from their Utopian land by somebody lumbering down the steps and going out the front door. "What is it? What's the matter?" Then the dreamer becomes more awake to the world, and realizes it is only the girls going out to track practice.

For so it is that about April 6, and after, the crisp, dewy mornings tempt the girls to rise up and go out and enjoy the breaking of day by throwing the discus, hurdling, and running the 50 yd. dash.

Although girl's track is a minor sport at Guilford, those participating derive a great pleasure from it. The pleasure and interest is heightened by the competition of class meets held at the last of the season.

A Day at Guilford or the Experiences of Josuah Abrahamsky

APRIL 10, 1929—I woke up at 7:04 on Wednesday morning, and arrived in the dining hall at 7:09 on the same day and year.

After a rather good breakfast, I read the morning paper and rushed to a first period class. I was late as usual. This class went off rather well, sleep being in order most of the time.

However, during the second period time passed more slowly because I sat on the front row, and besides, I was trying to "leg" the professor. The next two periods, I had four straight that day, seemed as though they would never pass. Oh, of course, they were interesting but rather dry, if you know what I mean.

At last lunch came, or I should say the time for lunch came. I will not go into details as to what we had for this noon meal, for even now it brings tears into my eyes to think about it.

At 1:25 a few of us went to the Carolina to see a show. We went during bargain hour, for of course we were nearly "broke." When we went to buy the tickets, I hung back to the last expecting some one to pay my way, but the stingy rascals wouldn't do it.

We hurried back after the show to practice baseball. I might as well have stayed in town, for I dropped an easy ball, besides striking out three times in succession.

At dinner I really did enjoy myself. We had a very good meal—steak and everything. They were trying to make up for that lunch I suppose.

When dinner was over, I had a date with my girl. She was simply wild about me. I didn't think so much of her; but what could a fellow do? If I hadn't had a date with her it would have broken her heart.

After the strictly supervised social half hour, I went to the store and bought some ice cream. In a few minutes I returned to my room, studied at least three hours, and went to bed. Honestly I don't believe I studied quite three hours. I expect I must have been in a "bull session" for at least two hours and a half.

Women's Baseball Squad

APRIL 19—On these sunny spring afternoons the athletic field swarmed with girls carrying mits, balls, bats, etc., for baseball is not limited to boys only at Guilford. Girls play too, and seem to get an immense amount of fun out of it, as well as to get off an hour's exercise, and at the same time learn something of the technique of baseball.

Today most of the colleges of the state were represented, by their orators, on the Guilford campus. The State Peace Contest was held at Guilford for the first time. Clare Trucloud, Guilford's contestant, placed high.

It is generally known that gentlemen prefer blondes but we didn't know until recently that Co-eds also prefer blondes. Stanley Moore proved this theory at the Press Convention held at Greensboro College. Quoting a G. C. girl: "I am looking for the ugliest male delegate here." Pointing to Stan: "Can you please tell me who the blonde is, wearing the ice-cream suit?"

Chapel Talk

APRIL 22.—Direction is more important than position. In the old-fashioned spelling class the boy who stood at the foot ready to spell everything that came his way was better off than the boy who stood at the head waiting to stumble toward the foot over every hard word pronounced. In the business and professional world the young person who takes a place lower than his ability calls for and is promoted because of faithful attention to duty is counted successful; but he who by means of a "pull" secures a position beyond his capacity and through inefficiency follows a down grade movement is counted a failure. In morals and religion that experience which is called conversion gets its value not so much from the fact that the soul can read its "title clear to a mansion in the sky," as from the fact that life is set moving in the right direction.

SAMUEL HAWORTH

Now this importance is increased when it is considered that the direction of life becomes a habit. It is easier to keep on going the way you have started; and the farther you go the harder it is to turn and go the other way. This way of life is coming to be your way. It tends to become fixed, not by some mysterious operation of fate or predestination, but by the simple laws of life, physical, mental and spiritual. For weal or woe, through the processes of life you are becoming yourself, with all the powers and possessions of permanent personality. You are achieving character.

It may be a great achievement. Whether it is, depends on the ideals, determination and faithfulness of the individual life. But whatever the measure of achievement, by so much the personal responsibility increases. Life is not a pool receiving an inflow of knowledge and power from currents of the past and fountains of the present world. It is a channel designed to pass on to other lives, with increase from springs of its own, the knowledge and power that have been received. Such responsibility is not irksome. It is a serious thing but need not be an anxious burden. Rather is it a glorious privilege. To live, to receive, to achieve, to hold fellowship, to spend and be spent for others—nothing can be more glorious, on earth or in heaven. Such is the purpose of life—the end toward which we move.

MAY 1—The Juniors honored the Seniors at a very enjoyable banquet.

FALL OFFICERS

President	—	Annie Ray
Vice-President	—	Catherine Cox
Secretary	—	Eunice Lindley

SPRING OFFICERS

President	—	Barclay Newlin
Vice-President	—	Eugene Hire
Secretary	—	Currie Spivey

Motto: Onward and Upward.

Colors: Pink and Green.

Flower: Sweet Pea.

GRAHAM LESTER ALLEN

"Big Doe" believes that too much work is bad for the disposition. Maybe that's the reason that he is always in a good humor. "Doe" was a great help to his team in the spring football, and runs the two miles in track.

SARAH CATHERINE COX

A combination of grace, dignity, and musical ability is "Cat." She has changed a great deal since coming to Guilford, especially by growing more broadminded towards the faults of others. Besides her regular class work she finds time for many outside activities, a competitive campus course, and yet a few winks of sleep.

HARRY CALVIN DENNY

"Rock" works hard for anything he likes, and he works especially hard as manager of baseball. His head is not as hard as his name, and he may be the star in his class in his senior year. Who knows!

MARY ALICE FUTRELL

Mary Alice is the most sincere of all the Juniors. She is care-free, happy, and emotional, as well as being a firm believer in all mankind, liking folks for the good in them. She is always busy with her own affairs, many of which are social. We hope the "Bane" of her existence is not "Me."

EVELYN ELIZABETH HAYWORTH

If it is not, "I am so thrilled," it is "I am so happy." The Juniors are really fortunate in having one who sees life from that angle. The Victorian poets might well have described her and remained in their sphere.

EUGENE SALATHIEL HIRE

If a word to the wise sufficeth, then it is unnecessary to quote more than one twentieth of the alphabet to "Nap." He has succeeded well in controlling his own heart while others have been swayed by his weighty arguments.

LESLIE MURPHY

Although he has the physical measurements which accompany super-activity of the thyroid, he has given many demonstrations which show that his intelligence is not of diminutive caliber. He has proved his worth by being elected captain of next year's football team, much fine work done on annuals, singing in the glee club and many other activities.

ANNIE KATE NEAL

Annie Kate doesn't talk enough for one to find out her philosophy of life, but that doesn't matter anyway. We do know she's interested in "Y" work. She takes part in all curricular activities and from the way she always looks she must carry out the "Old Dutch" slogan—"Chasing dirt."

BENJAMIN BARCLAY NEWLIN

Whether it is rushing the girls, bluffing in class rooms, or playing on the football field, "Golden Locks" hits them hard with his one hundred and sixty pounds. Quiet and unassuming you had better beware of his ready wit, he may deceive his looks.

DELMAS BURTON NEWLIN

Delmas being a true Newlin is naturally quiet and a math shark. His quietness keeps us from knowing so very much about him, but his actions prove that he is a hard worker at any thing he may attempt.

NAHLON HALE NEWLIN

To say that he is red-headed would be a lie, but Hale is conscientious. He will even have us to believe that he came to college to get an education. A regular fellow who takes it as it comes, says nothing, and works hard is what Hale really is.

JAY NORMAN OSBORNE

Norman is one of Professor Haworth's star Biblical students. But don't get the impression that Osborne is dry and uninteresting, which sometimes goes with the above mentioned course. Those who know him well are aware of the fact that he has a keen sense of humor as well as a sincere purpose in life.

REMBERT WALLACE PATRICK

A New Yorker and an Al Smither, but just the same "Pat" is a good student. He debates, orates, plays football, and carries a heavy campus course. Such a line of activities takes time and ability; Rembert seems to have them down "Pat."

ANNIE JOSEPHINE RAY

"Ray" is a 1929 feminist and glories in it. She is aware of having a mind and takes pleasure in using it for a definite purpose. She is a brilliant mathematician, college marshal, Euphonian member, and a good athlete.

SAMUEL OTIS SHORT

"Short" is the exact opposite of his name in stature. He is quite a track man as well as being manager of that sport. Otis is never in a bad humor and always has some cheery word on the tip of his tongue.

CURRIE BIRD SPIVEX

Silent pools are deepest," may be a good epitaph for "Speedy." "Mindless," as he was called on basketball trips, was the conscientious manager of that sport, and high scorer in the "Day" league. He never allows anything to interfere with his campus course.

WILLIAM ALTON TEW

*Tews may come and Tews may go
But the greatest Tew of all the Tews
Is the Tew the Juniors know.*

This and a lot more may be said of Alton, but he doesn't need it; his actions speak for themselves.

GEORGE ALDON YELVERTON

He wields a waiter and a racket equally well, but both of these performances are second to his handling of a basketball. "Apple" has distinguished himself, not only as a very jovial Junior, but also as a fairly gay Sophomore, and mischievous Freshman.

MAY 1—An event took place at Guilford College in which all the enmity between the two lower classes was abolished, the hatchet buried, and eternal friendship pledged. This event is usually called the Freshman-Sophomore picnic.

While it was primarily and originally intended as a peace conference between the two highly esteemed classes, and still retains some of its original characteristics, it is now a delightful and happy occasion for everyone.

After a colorful ceremony in which the two classes united in the holy bonds of friendship, a sumptuous feast was spread forth to be devoured by the picnickers.

The feast being over, couples were seen to slip quietly away to remote and secluded spots to talk. Later in the evening a whistle blew, and by this the conversationalists realized that it was time to adjourn.

MAY 1—Tonight Mr. Max Noah gave his annual formal voice recital. He was well received by a large and appreciative audience.

Mr. Noah sang three groups of songs composed by Italian, German, and modern English writers respectively.

Mrs. Noah accompanied him at the piano and also delighted the audience with several selected readings.

High School Day

MAY 1—The annual High School Day was held. Practically all of the participants had arrived by eight o'clock. Many schools were represented in the contests and athletic events.

The contestants for the Declamation Contest, Track Meet, Tennis Tournament, and the Recitation Contest were registered Saturday morning at eight o'clock. They finished registering and the various contests began. At nine o'clock, there was the Declamation Contest for High School boys, and the Recitation Contest for High School girls. The successful boy and girl were presented with suitable prizes by Joseph J. Stone and Company.

The winner of the Tennis singles was given a cup presented by Odell Hardware Company, and the winners of the doubles were each given a cup presented by the Guilford College Alumni. The medals for the winners of the Track events were given by the Doak-Connelly Athletic Supply Company. Prizes were awarded to the winner in each track event and to the school scoring the greatest number of points.

The purpose of this day was to acquaint as many high school students as possible with Guilford, to show them that Guilford has an interest in their activities, and to get the most talented students, who are usually the ones taking part in at least one of the different lines of activity represented on such a day, interested in Guilford. It also afforded a general good time to all concerned. The high school students enjoy the different atmosphere of college life, while it does the college students good to get a knowledge of the outlook of high school students again, especially as a number will teach them next year.

Josephine Paul, Josephine Kimrey, Catherine Cox, Kathryn Owen

MAY 11—Miss Josephine Paul appeared in her formal graduating voice recital assisted at the piano by Miss Josephine Kimrey. As well as a certificate in voice, Miss Paul is also receiving a literary degree this spring. We congratulate her on the high merits she has received in her college career. Miss Kimrey is only finishing her first year at Guilford but shows great skill in the mastery of music.

MAY 22—Miss Catherine Cox and Miss Kathryn Owen appeared in their formal Junior piano and voice recital. Both showed high accomplishment in the rendition of their numbers. Miss Cox is a student in piano under Mr. Noah and Miss Owen is a student in the voice department under Mrs. Noah.

The Quaker

JUNE 1—Today a great many of the alumni returned to Guilford.
Senior Class day was also held on June 1.

JUNE 2— Sunday, 11 A.M., the baccalureate sermon was delivered.

JUNE 2—In the afternoon the A'Capella Choir gave a delightful concert.

DR. RAYMOND BINFORD

JUNE 3, 11:30 A. M.—“By the authority of the commonwealth of North Carolina vested in the Board of Trustees of Guilford College and by them conveyed to me, I admit these young men and women to the rights and privileges pertaining to the bachelor's degree and confer upon:—”

Robert Henry Atkinson

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: W. L. S., 2, 3, 4; President, 3; Treasurer, 4; Glee Club, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 3; Vice-President, 4; Choral Society, 3, 4; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, 3, 4; Vice-President, 3; President, 4; Quaker Staff, 3; Guilfordian Board, 2.

"Bob" came to Guilford at the beginning of his Sophomore year and since that time he has been an outstanding leader in his literary society and the glee club. His faithful and consistent work in the Y. M. C. A. caused his fellow members to elevate him to the presidency of that organization and the work he has accomplished in that capacity shows that their confidence was justified. His quiet persistence in his duties and his ability as a student insure him a success in life.

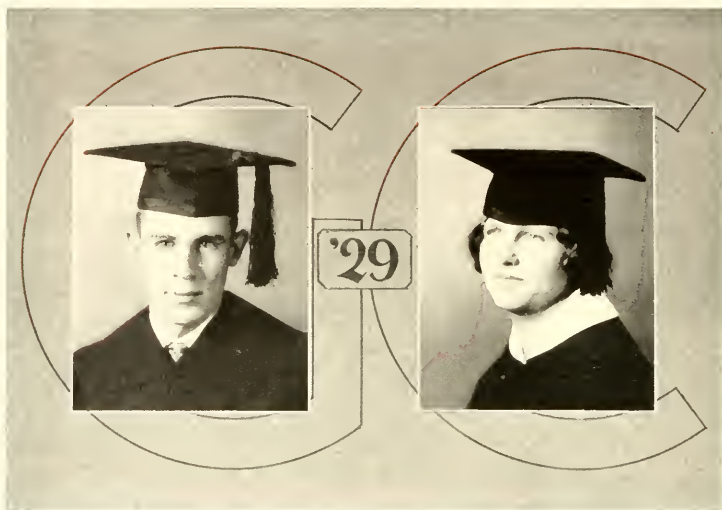

Marie Antoinette Barnes

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: Z. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Treasurer, 4; Guilfordian Board, 1, 2, 4; Quaker Staff, 2; Y. W. A. Cabinet 2; Choral Club 1, 2; Euphonian 2, 3, 4; Class Hockey Team 1, 2; Captain, 1; Class Basketball Team, 3; Class Volley Ball Team, 3; Monogram Club, 3; Fall Play, 4.

Tolerance, reserve of manner, modesty at times, clownishness when she feels so inclined, and pensive moods, characterize Marie. Marie is a friend to you once you become acquainted with her and she acquainted with you, but then you aren't sure you know her. You may know what some of her thoughts are but you most likely won't unless she chooses to tell you; she is thinking just the same. Mr. Webster is her closest companion in her academic procedure. Derivation of words is her hobby. If you have ever seen her "clog" you have seen her in a hurry—otherwise you haven't.

Robert Dick Ayers

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: W. L. S., 1, 2, 4; Basketball Squad, 2; Varsity, 3, 4; Track, 2, 3, 4; Lettermen's Club, 3, 4; Quaker Staff, 2; Dramatic Council, 2; Vice-President of Class, 2; Fall Play, 2.

This lad of shy appearance and sunny disposition hails from Summerfield. "Bob" is one of these quiet unassuming individuals who never has much to say but is truly a living example of the old saying that still water runs deep. He has the reputation of being the most graceful and one of the most efficient men on the basketball court, manages to pull straight A's in the most of his work, and still finds time to lend a helping hand to everyone.

Lois Ruth Beachom

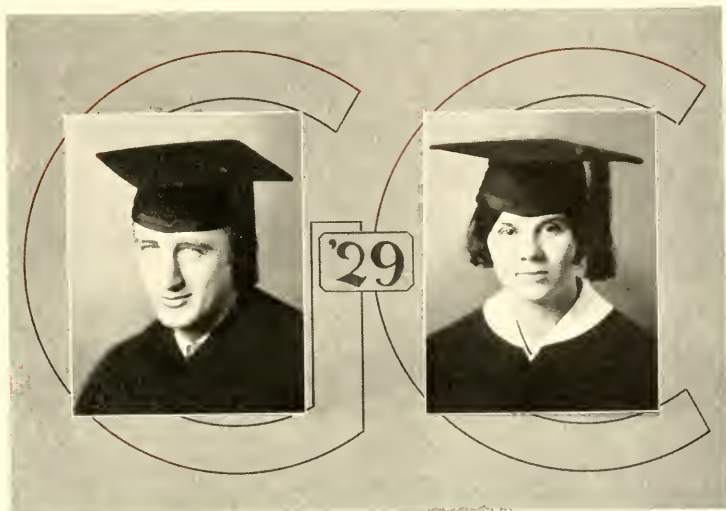

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: P. L. S., 1, 2, 3; President, 4; Chorus, 4; Secretary of County Club, 2, 4.

One would think by the amount of work she gets done and the fine grades she makes that Lois is a very studious person. And, in fact, she is. But this does not keep her from joining in any fun that comes along.

We all agree that Lois is in every way a very attractive girl. She has light brown hair and blue eyes and is rarely seen without a smile on her face.

Joseph Everett Beamon

The Degree of Bachelor of Science

Activities: H. C. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 2; Treasurer, 3; Football Varsity, 3, 4; Business Manager of Quaker, 3; Men's Student Council, 4; Student Affairs Board, 3, 4.

Well, the millenium may come tomorrow but don't let that worry you; look after the present and the future will take care of itself. This, at least, seems to be Beamon's philosophy. At Biology he is a wizard, on the football field a demon, and when in society he proves the new theory that ladies prefer blonds. Sincere in his work, true to his friends, and loyal to his college, his place will be hard to fill.

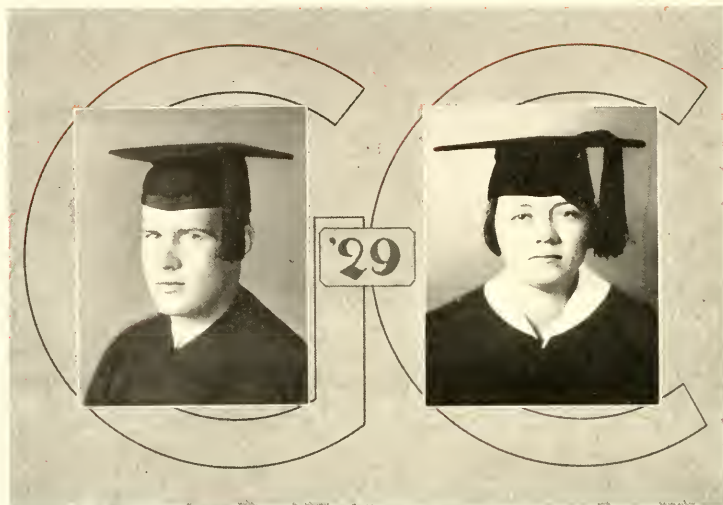

Ruth Bundy

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: P. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary Jamestown Club, 3, 4.

Ruth fills her place in the class so quietly that we hardly realize she's there until she's absent once and then we feel the lack of her quiet retiring personality. She might be partially described in terms characteristic of an old fashioned girl; quiet, demure, sincere, and earnest. She is indeed loyal to her home and town, Jamestown, for she visits them every week-end.

Mills Scott Benton

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: H. C. L. S., 1, 2, 3; Secretary, 2; Men's Student Council, 1, 2; Business Manager of Guilfordian, 2; Assistant Manager of Football, 2; Manager, 3; Class Basketball Team, 1; Monogram Club, 3, 4.

"W. D.," the man with the Prince of Wales smile and appearance, hails from Sunbury. His friendly manner, genuine courtesy, and open hospitality wins for him the friendship of all with whom he comes in contact. The fact that he finished the four years course in three and one-half years indicates an excess of talent. Scott is an easy-going, tolerant, chap and these characteristics plus a keen sense of humor make him one of the most popular members of the Class of '29.

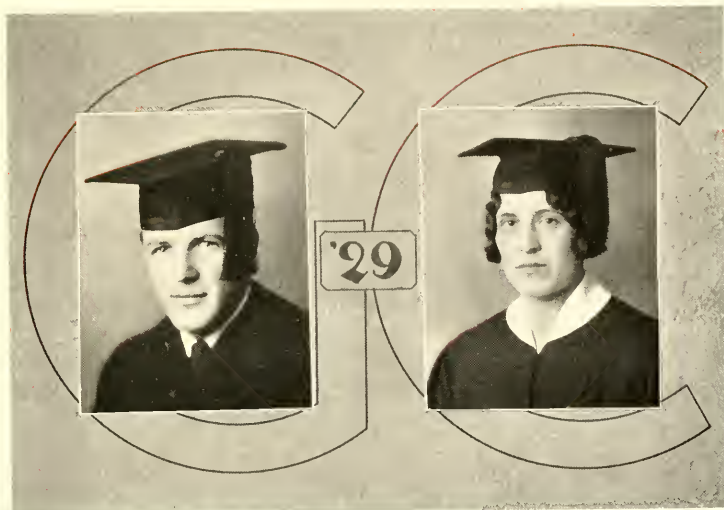

Leah Elizabeth Hammond

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: P. L. S., 3, 4; Class Hockey Team, 1, 2, 3, 4; Varsity, 2; Class Basketball Team, 3; Class Volley Ball Team, 3, 4; Class Baseball Team, 2, 3; Captain, 2; Track Squad, 2, 3; Y. W. A. A. Cabinet, 4; Secretary Student Government, 3; Vice-President, 4; Social Committee, 3, 4.

Leah thoroughly enjoys past times and recreations, but then gives worthy consideration to her work as a student and has consequently proven herself equal to tasks confronting her. Underneath her reserve we know she is genuine. These qualities mixed with determination make us prophesy that the ages to come will pronounce her "A Success."

Charles Samuel Coble

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: H. C. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 1; Treasurer, 3; President, 4; Basketball Varsity, 1, 2, 3; Track Varsity, 2, 3, 4; Captain, 4; Winner Cross Country Trophy, 3; High Scorer Trophy, 3; Assistant Coach, 2, 3; Spring Play, 1, 2, 3; Manager College News Service, 4; Guilfordian Board, 3; Advertising Manager, 4; Tennis Varsity, 2; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, 1, 2, 3; Vice-President, 3; Vice-President of Class, 1; Gospel Team, 2, 3; President of Guilford County Club, 4; Lettermen's Club, 3.

Introducing "Chick," who is an athlete, scholar, and leader. Charles has won fame as the outstanding, popular, capable, efficient leader of the Young Friends of North Carolina. In addition he has received further laurels on the cinder path and hardwood court. Courteous and obliging to everyone, friendly and helpful to all. These traits combined with a sunny disposition, are the things that have made Coble a valuable addition to the Class of '29.

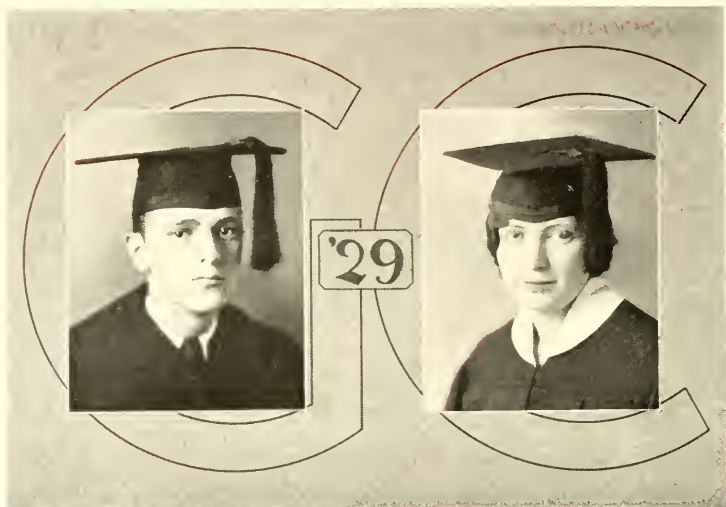

Gertrude Elizabeth Hire

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: P. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, 4; Superintendent of College Sunday School, 4; Choral Society, 4; Class Hockey Team, 1, 2; Class Baseball Team, 3.

Gertrude is dependable and conscientious. No matter what the task that falls to her lot, one may be sure that it will not only be executed but it will be done on time. She possesses especially a literary ability, but what is more important she willingly devotes her time to almost any occasion, even at the expense of lessons.

Floyd Milton Cox

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: W. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Glee Club, 3, 4; Tennis Varsity, 3, 4; Monogram Club, 3.

Floyd may appear a bit shy and retiring but he has the happy faculty of saying the right word at the psychological moment. In addition to the above accomplishments he wields a wicked tennis racket and more than once has saved the Quaker net men from disastrous defeat. Notwithstanding the fact that he is cubically one of the smallest men in the class, he is large mentally and excels in the ability to get by with the minimum of work and effort.

Grace Kimrey

The Degree of Bachelor of Science

Activities: Z. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 3; Class Basketball, 3; Class Baseball, 3; Tennis, 2; Hockey, 3.

The name Grace Kimrey is synonymous with the adjectives cheerful, enthusiastic, friendly, and capable. In addition to the above qualities she is a dainty, feminine young lady with many other desirable traits. Grace joined our class in her Senior year and she has proved herself to be a valuable addition. Grace has very successfully majored in home economics, but this course has not prevented her from taking an active part in social life or kept her from being a student leader as well as a friend to everyone. We wish her success and we know our wish will be fulfilled.

Walter Ray Davis

The Degree of Bachelor of Science

Activities: H. C. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 3; President, 4; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, 4; Quaker Staff, 3; Vice-President Class, 2; Fall Play, 2; Class Volley Ball Team, 2, 3, 4; Choral Society, 3, 4; Vice-President Men's Student Council, 4; Mimesingers, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 4; Social Committee, 3; Assistant in Physics, 4; Class President, 4.

Davis, president of his class and Senior representative on the student council is not the dignitary that these positions might lead one to believe. On the other hand he is a regular fellow, a splendid student, and a man among the men of the college community. His amiable disposition and optimistic nature makes a combination that is hard to beat.

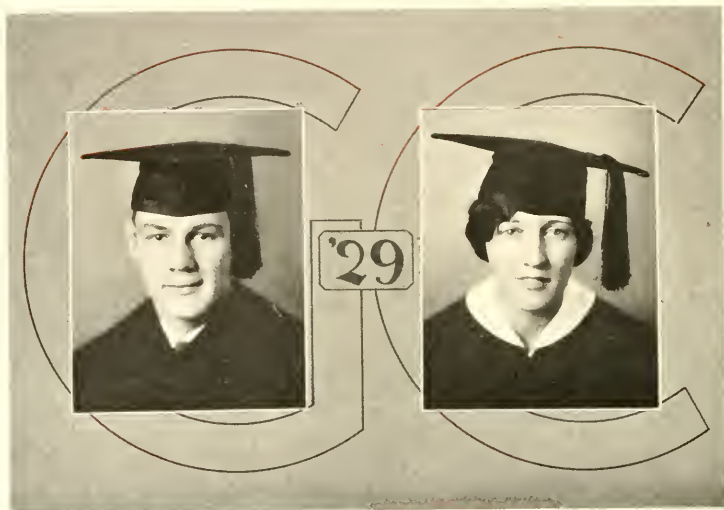

Mildred Mae Kimrey

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: Z. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 3; Jamestown Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Social Committee, 2; Dramatic Council 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 3, 4; Fall Play, 4; Class Hockey Team, 2; Class Basketball Team, 3; Class Baseball Team, 2, 3, 4; Class Volley Ball Team, 4; Student Affairs Board, 3, 4; Community Chorus, 3, 4; Managing Editor of Quaker, 4.

According to tradition someone must uphold the dignity of the Senior Class and Mildred is our candidate for this position. However, this is only one of her outstanding traits for she is exceedingly versatile. She is at the same time a skilled athlete, a gracious hostess, a capable leader, and a popular student. Her originality and good judgment were the factors that influenced her classmates to choose her as Managing Editor of "The Quaker." Mildred is a good sport, has a keen sense of humor, and possesses the art of making friends of all with whom she comes in contact.

Luther Edgar Francis

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: Football Squad, 1, 2; Varsity, 3; Debating Team, 2; Track Squad, 1, 2.

"Cowboy" won fame at the "Rat Dance" in his Freshman year by refusing to be scared by the terrible Sophomores. He demonstrated this trait many times more on the football field as those who have played opposite him can testify. Francis is finishing a regular four year course in three. He is a persistent, thorough, conscientious worker who believes that what is worth doing should be done well. His genial, friendly manner has won him many friends. He goes to Harvard next year to continue his studies in the theological school there.

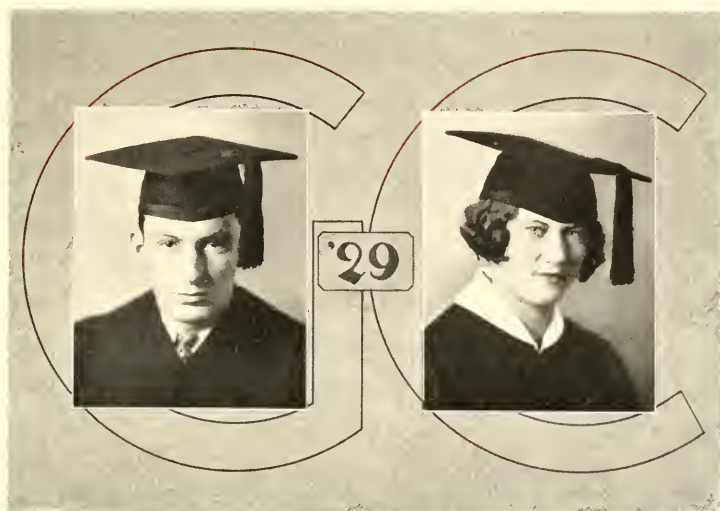

Thelma May King

The Degree of Bachelor of Science

Activities: P. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Cheer Leader, 2, 3, 4; Circulation Manager of Guilfordian, 2, 3; Euphonian 3, 4; Secretary, 4; Choral Club, 3, 4; Class Hockey Team, 3, 4; Class Volley Ball Team, 3, 4; Captain, 3; Y. W. A. A. Cabinet, 2, 3, 4.

Who is loyal? Who in pep is second to none? Who is present at every game? Who yells, "Split Guilford for Team?" Who is thoughtful, kind, and true? Who will be missed when she leaves? Who can answer these questions without saying, Thelma King? Her only weakness is the men—but I ask you, is that a weakness after all?

Isaac French Holt

The Degree of Bachelor of Science

Activities: H. C. L. S., 1, 2, 3; Minnesingers, 2, 3, 4; Football Varsity, 3, 4; Track Varsity, 3, 4; Basketball Squad, 2, 4; Monogram Club, 3, 4.

French entered Guilford, after a successful career at Eli Whitney High School, in pursuit of the so-called higher education. However, he has been careful not to let his scholarship interfere with his education. His outstanding performance on the 1928 football team is a matter of common knowledge. In addition he helped Guilford win laurels on the cinder path as well as being an outstanding figure in the college glee club. Holt possesses the faculty of getting by with the minimum of effort, yet at the same time making a creditable showing both scholastically and socially.

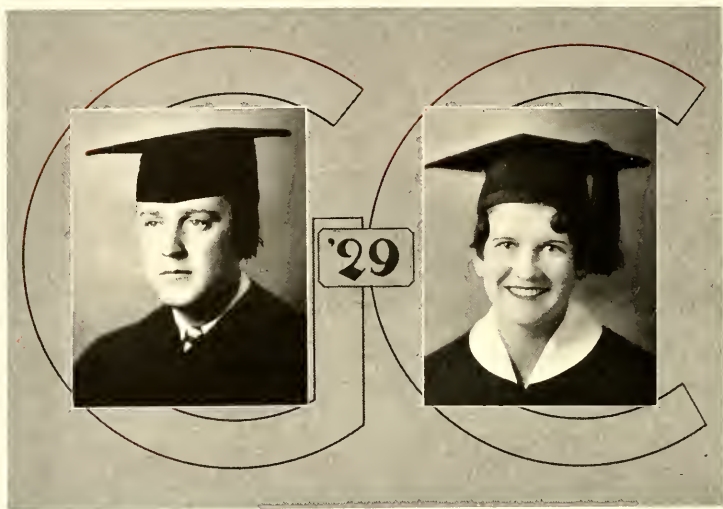

Eunice McPherson

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: P. L. S., 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 3; Class Hockey Team, 1, 2, 3, 4; Varsity, 2; Class Basketball Team, 2, 3; Varsity, 2; Class Volley Ball Team, 3, 4; Class Baseball Team, 2, 3, 4; Track Squad, 2, 3, 4; Y. W. A. A. Cabinet, 3, 4; Secretary County Club, 4.

"There is so much good in the worst of us and so much bad in the best of us." It is evident that Eunice's good characteristics out-weigh her bad ones. All her profs will tell you if they are able to keep her still long enough that she will reveal intensive study as well as innate tendencies toward academic studies. Mischief making mixed with friendship making are her hobbies. She is an outstanding athlete. It was lucky for her campus course, which had been slightly neglected until her Senior year, that small bothers such as required work had been accredited with "A's" and "B's" before the Senior year.

William Alden Hunt

The Degree of Bachelor of Science

Activities: H. C. L. S., 1, 2; Secretary, 2; Chaplain, 2; Vice-President of Class, 3; Assistant Manager of Girl's Glee Club, 3; Class Volley Ball Team, 2.

Hunt holds the distinction of being the good looking man of the Class of '29, a rose among thorns. Due to the above mentioned characteristic he has at all times been able to carry an extra heavy campus course. He is a versatile chap as he has also a creditable record as a biology major though he does not take the theory of natural selection too seriously as he is a carefree, happy-go-lucky lad with a good word for everyone at all times.

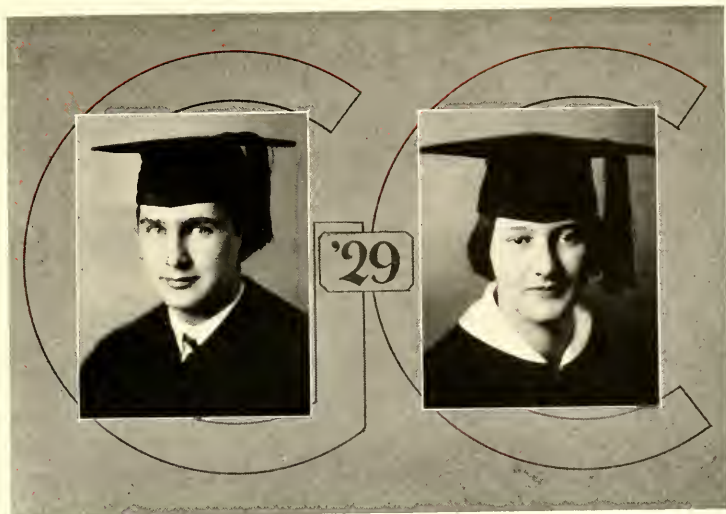

Nancy Edith Marshburn

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: P. L. S., 1, 2; Class Hockey Team, 1; Class Basketball Team, 1.

A quiet, calm, and shy girl? Ah, no! But one of the most lively girls on the campus. Edith's laughing voice comes as a ray of sunshine on a dark day whenever she appears. Edith is never sad or gloomy. She is a well-known heart breaker and one of the most popular girls of the "Day Dodgers."

William Patterson Hutchins

The Degree of Bachelor of Science

Activities: H. C. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 2; Chaplain, 3; Assistant in Biology Lab, 4.

"Pat's" scientific tendencies and his unassuming manner at first glance would not excite especial notice. But under his solemn brow there smolders a keen sense of humor and the exact word to size up a difficult situation is always forth coming. Though a student of natural selection, his acquaintances find that he has a shrewd knowledge of human nature and the ability to deal with his fellows with the ease that he masters amoebas.

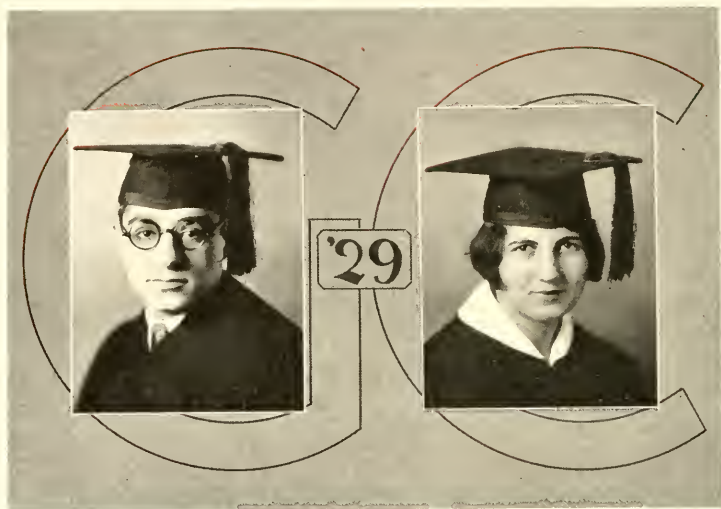

Sara Bernice Mitchell

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: Z. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Track Squad, 2; Class Baseball Team, 2; Choral Society, 4.

Youngest in years of the Class of '29, but by no means youngest in ability, experience, and understanding of what college is all about. She is as much at home amid domestic life at New Garden as on the "A" pew of the classroom. Bernice enjoys nothing more than to prepare an appetizing meal for a sick New Gardner. She has many friends among both sexes here and is a friend.

Paul Christos Jassimedes

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: W. L. S., 2, 3, 4; President, 3; Chairman of Social Committee, 3; President of Gospel Team, 3; President Student Volunteer Movement, 4; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, 3, 4; Track Varsity, 3.

After the religious introductory you have read above, allow us to present to you Paul Jassimedes, preacher, politician, financier, and cobbler. His outstanding campus activities have been in connection with the Gospel team in which capacity he has served as president, while his track accomplishments were no doubt inherited from his Hellenic ancestors. His ecclesiastical future should be assured if a fondness for the proverbial fowl is an evidence. Chickens? Yes and how!

Claudia Bell Neal

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: Z. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; President, 4; Women's Student Council, 3; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, 3; Treasurer, 4; Baby Cabinet, 2; Class Hockey Team, 3, 4; Choral Society, 2, 3, 4; County Club Secretary, 2; Social Committee, 4; Track Squad, 2.

She can act the part of anything or anybody if she tries. But she can be a real true friend without any effort. Playing pranks on others is her chief delight at which she is very efficient. It might be well to say, since her face will probably not carry these items, that she has known how to make good grades and make a heap of friends throughout her four years here. She believes also in giving justice to everything and all who would ask.

Reginald Spencer Marshall

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: W. L. S., 1, 2, 3; Football Squad, 1; Varsity, 2, 3, 4; Basketball Squad, 1, 2; Varsity, 3, 4; Captain, 4; Baseball Varsity, 2, 3, 4; Guilfordian Board, 1, 2, 3, 4; Associate Editor, 3, 4; Vice-President Student Affairs Board, 3, 4; Lettermen's Club, 3, 4.

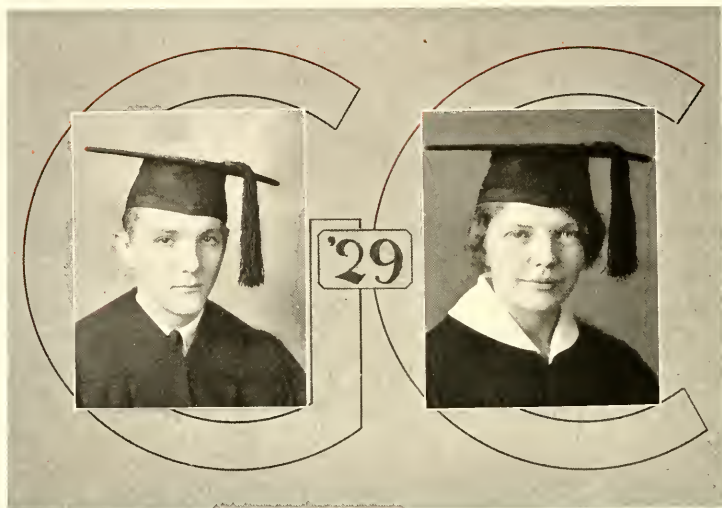

From the string of activities listed above it can easily be deduced that Marshall has stood out head and shoulders above a great many of his fellow students. He has majored in athletics and won a name for himself in the Little Six circle which will long be remembered and respected. "Reg" has a good mind, is gifted socially, and is progressive almost to the point of being a radical. Both from his own and the standpoint of his fellow students his college career has been eminently successful.

Lillian O'Quinn

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Sincere, earnest, and true! There are scores of beautiful adjectives that would characterize Lily. Even her name gives us some description of her character. The Class of '29 was indeed fortunate to have her come back and graduate with us after staying out a year. Underneath her dignity and scholarly appearance she's a good friend and pal. What more could one ask?

Loyless Howard Melvin

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: W. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 3; Monogram Club, 3, 4; Varsity Baseball, 2, 3, 4; Chairman of Dining Room Committee, 4.

"Mut" not only knows the kind of ball to signal the pitcher, but he has ready judgment in many other matters. In the classroom he knows his stuff and with the ladies—well, yes, even there. He is calm and collected in any situation no matter what it may be, and his generous spirit and friendly nature make him a worthy associate and a real friend.

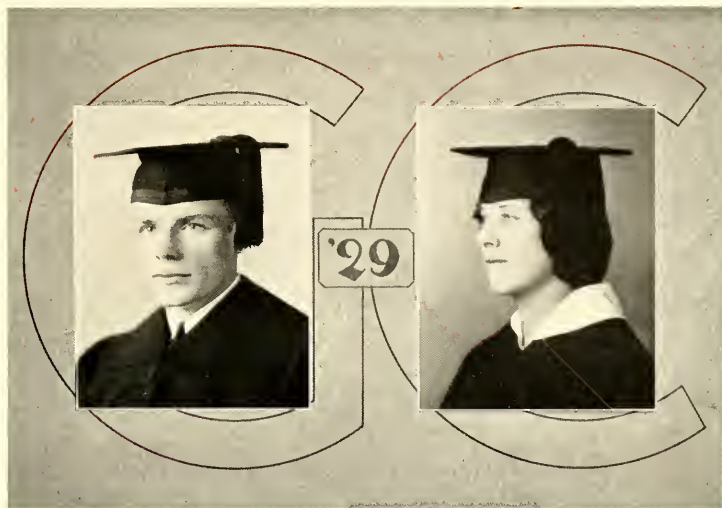

Frances Hartsell Osborne

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: Z. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Dramatic Council, 1, 2; Secretary of Class, 1; Treasurer, 1; Guilfordian Board, 1, 2, 3; Associate Editor, 2, 3; Y. W. C. A. Undergraduate Representative, 1, 2, 3; President, 4; Gospel Team, 2; Class Basketball Team, 2; Managing Editor of Quaker, 2; Editor, 3; Delegate to International Y. W. Convention, 1926; Delegate to N. C. P. A., 2, 3; Zetavian Oratorical Contest, 2.

To meet "Fran" is to want to know more about her. She will talk about any subject you choose and will let you in on new facts. She is one of the most interesting conversationalists at Guilford. "Fran" is athletic, moderately studious, interested in "Y," being President during her Senior year, and a major in social activities. "Fran" is the cool calculating business woman who thinks seriously of going into the business world; takes notes on everything; may be seen at all times with a note pad and her "Parker" pen.

Daniel Stanley Moore

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: H. C. L. S., 4; Basketball Varsity, 1, 2, 3, 4; Captain, 3; Football Squad, 2; Varsity, 3, 4; Tennis Varsity, 2, 3, 4; Manager, 2, 3; Track Varsity, 2, 3, 4; Captain, 2, 3; President of Class, 1; Men's Student Council, 3; Chairman of Ring Committee, 3; Fall Play, 2, 4; Spring Play, 2, 3; College Marshal, 3; Student Affairs Board, 3, 4; Lettermen's Club, 3, 4; Editor of Quaker, 4.

It is our belief that the word versatility was coined to describe "Stan." There is no other word to fit one who has starred in football, basketball, tennis, track, dramatics, stood out as a student and leader, yet keeps himself a mystery and refuses to talk of himself and his achievements. In addition to the above accomplishments "Stan" is distinctly a success as a ladies' man and quite as nonchalant as Lord Chesterfield himself. He has been successful in the best sense of the word because his many student honors have come to him because he has won the confidence, respect, and admiration of his schoolmates.

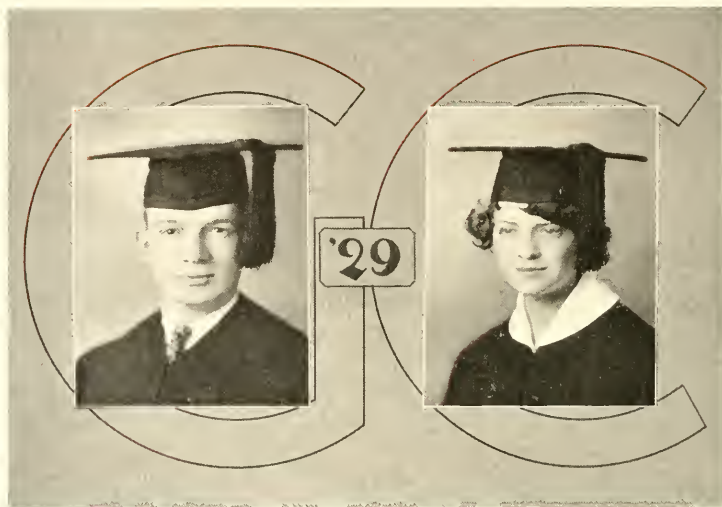

Kathryn Amanda Owen

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: Z. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Varsity Volley Ball Team, 3; Euphonian, 3, 4; Vice-President of Euphonian, 4; Choral Society, 1, 2.

The girl that few people understand. There may be some who think that she has a tendency toward self-centeredness, but those of us who have known her for these four years have learned differently. As a girl among girls, "Kat" has few peers. If she is handicapped by a few of the failings characteristic of homo-sapiens she has more than enough admirable qualities to offset them. If someone says, "Come on, let's go! We're in for a bit of diversified fun!" it's K. O. with her. The solemn look is occasioned by the cap and gown. It is only in defense of her Senior dignity that she puts on such expressions as these. It is as the smiling Kat (not quite in the class of the Cheshire) that we who see her most identify her.

Alvin Scott Parker, Jr.

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: H. C. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 3; President, 4; Freshman Debating Team, 1; College Debating Team, 2; Debating Council, 3; Freshman Basketball Manager; Assistant Basketball Manager, 2; Manager, 3; Business Manager Guilfordian, 2, 3, 4; Quaker Staff, 2, 4; Circulation Manager, 2; Business Manager, 4; Student Affairs Board, 3, 4; President, 4; Treasurer of N. C. P. A., 4; Men's Athletic Cabinet, 2, 3; Lettermen's Club, 3.

Allow us to introduce the busiest man in school, A. Scott Parker, Jr., better known as "Siki." Scott's major activities have been four in number, manly student organizations, a heavy campus course, radiating pessimism while warming radiators and guarding the checking account of the various organizations and incidentally his own. He has performed his duties faithfully and efficiently especially in the capacity of Business Manager of the publications and manager of the basketball team. "Siki" is an indispensable unit in the Class of '29.

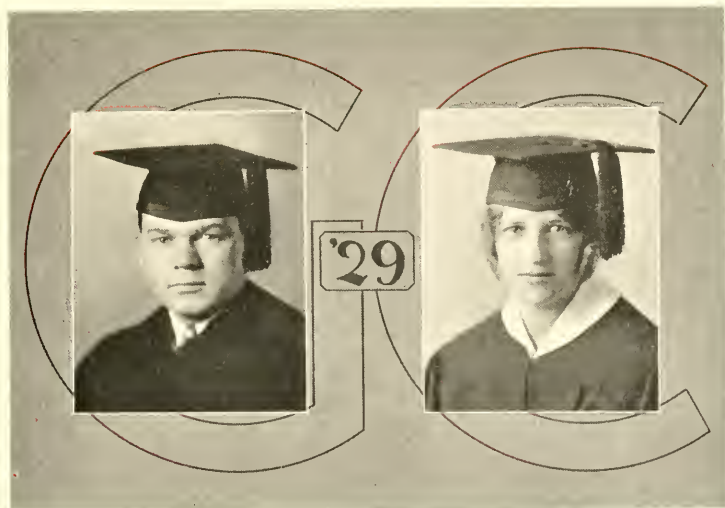

Josephine Ring Paul

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: P. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 3; President, 4; Dramatic Council, 3, 4; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, 3; Y. W. A. A. Cabinet, 3, 4; Vice-President, 4; Euphonia, 3, 4; Secretary, 3; President, 4; Student Affairs Board, 3, 4; Girl's Chorus, 1, 2; Community Choral Club, 3, 4; Class Hockey Team, 1, 3, 4; College Marshal, 3.

The surplus energy of Sampson must have been bestowed upon "Jo." From the rising bell until bedtime not a muscle in her body ceases to move—especially the muscle of the tongue. Her musical inclination keeps her at "Mem" Hall much of the time. Singing and missing the point to jokes are Jo's pet hobbies. She excels, however, in the gymnastic cart wheel along with the well known role of chaperoning.

Vernon Ray Parrish

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: W. L. S., 2, 3, 4; President, 4; President of Men's Athletic Council, 4; Baseball Squad, 1; Varsity, 2, 3, 4; Captain, 4; Varsity Football, 1, 2, 3, 4; All Conference Fullback, 3, 4; Basketball Squad, 1.

Fine athlete, consistent worker, friend to everyone, and the ability to make more noise than anyone else on the campus sums up "Rachel." He is the brawn of the class and to think of football without immediately seeing a mental picture of Parrish in action is an impossibility. Despite his activity in athletics and his frequent visits to High Point, Ray has found time to make friends with everyone and gain the admiration of all.

Virginia Ragsdale

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: P. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Class Basketball, 3; Class Volley Ball Team, 4; Class Hockey Team, 4; Y. W. A. A. Cabinet, 4.

A model for the ages, a girl whom all will love because they must. That's Virginia! Sincere, kind, and generous, with a host of friends and admirers who are won by her sweet disposition and charming personality. Although Virginia tried her fortune first at N. C. C. W., and later at Queens College, we are glad that she decided that Guilford was the best place after all and came back to graduate with the Class of '29.

Clifton Cobb Pearson

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

An able scholar, a conscientious and enthusiastic worker striving at all times to do his best for the interest of the school and society about sums up Clifton Pearson. He has been actively at work among the religious organizations of the campus and has aided much in the promotion of their welfare. Mr. Pearson bears the distinction of being the only member of the class who has had the courage to brave the band of matrimony. He plans to enter the ministry, a task for which we feel he is eminently well fitted.

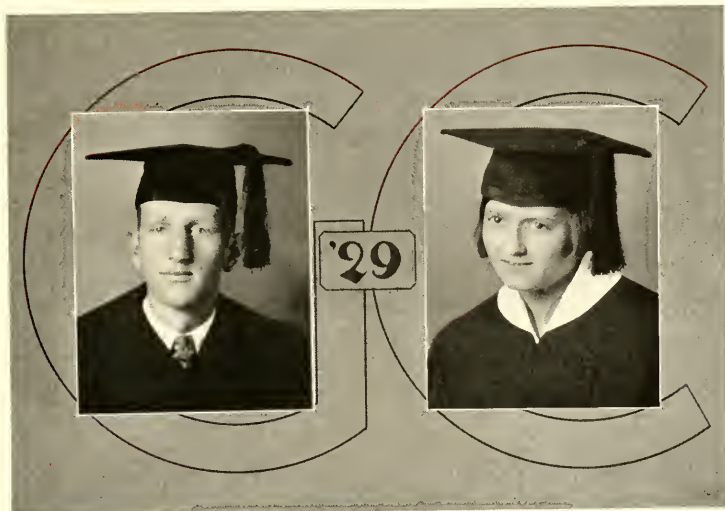

Esther Griffith Reece

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: Z. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Class Treasurer, 1; Hockey Team, 1, 3, 4; Captain, 4; President of Class, 3; College Marshal, 3; Euphonia, 3; 4; Vice-President, 3; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, 2, 3; Y. W. A. A. Cabinet, 3; Class Tennis Team, 3; Class Baseball, 2, 3, 4; President Women's Student Government, 4; Treasurer, 2; President Federated Music Club, 4; Class Volley Ball Team, 4; Fall Play, 1, 2, 4.

A model disciplinarian, especially of football players, and an accomplished musician. Funny combination, but true. "Reece" also shows marked talent in the ability to act and has taken leading parts in a number of dramatic productions. A good sport at all times and places, a loyal pal, and a true friend.

Edwin Hewitt Rozell

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: H. C. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; President, 4; Men's Student Council, 1, 2, 3; Secretary, 2; Debating Council, 3, 4; President, 3; Quaker Staff, 2, 3; Circulation Manager, 3; Guilfordian Board, 1, 2, 3, 4; Associate Editor, 3; Editor-in-Chief, 4; Student Affairs Board, 3, 4; Freshmen Debating Team; College Debating Team, 1, 2, 3, 4; Class President, 2.

"Red" if seen once is always remembered. He does not have the physiognomy of the Greek god, but he is just as effective among the fairer sex. Can he argue? Yes, and we figure that he could win his argument with the proverbial sign post. He is a man who can make wise cracks, give bitter sarcasm, and take the same with equal appreciation. He fights for what he believes to be right regardless of the cost, and by these and other virtues he has gained the respect of all and the friendship of many.

Margaret Kathleen Reynolds

The Degree of Bachelor of Science

Activities: P. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 3; Class Hockey Team, 1; Choral Society, 3, 4.

Just to look at the clam, suave countenance of Kathleen, one would never guess that underneath it lies a mind that grasps mathematics, science, and language as quickly as lightning. In fact it would be difficult to mention any subject which "K.t." does not know a great deal about, but which she refuses to tell about unless she happens to be in the right mood when asked. It's been a puzzle to her friends to find out how "Kat" finds time to major in math, minor in French, and at the same time carry on a major campus course.

Wilmer Larkins Steele

The Degree of Bachelor of Science

Activities: W. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; President, 2, 3; Minnesingers, 2, 3, 4; Choral Society, 3, 4; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, 3, 4; Dramatic Council, 2, 3, 4; Football Manager, 4; Cheer Leader, 2, 3; Debating Council, 2, 3; Guilfordian Board, 3; Fall Play, 2; Spring Play, 1, 4; Gospel Team, 2, 3.

"Sheriff" is just another Yankee who hails from a little town in Pennsylvania. He came South with all the bad traits which a southerner usually associates with a northerner, but in his sophomore year he experienced a great change and became a Quaker that would gladden the heart of George Fox. He has done good work on the Gospel teams, dramatic council, in the glee club, and as a public speaker. He has developed traits which we feel sure will enable him to become an ideal business manager for some college.

Frances Della Shore

The Degree of Bachelor of Science

Activities: Z. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 3; Class Treasurer, 2; House President New Garden Hall, 4; Choral Society, 2, 3, 4; Euphonian, 3, 4; Y. W. A. A. Cabinet, 3; Class Baseball Team, 2, 3, 4; Varsity Baseball, 2; Class Hockey Team, 3, 4; Class Volley Ball Team, 3, 4; Captain, 4; Class Track Team, 2; Social Committee, 3, 4.

When we see Della as house president addressing a group of her fellow students, we wonder if she can ever get away from this stately appearance. Fortunately she does, for she can be human, too; she only calls up the stateliness when the occasion demands. Could we hope for a better all-round student than Della? The Senior athletes would be lost without her. Does she ever miss a social? Well, not that anyone knows of. Almost any activity on the campus couldn't be carried on without feeling that there was something lacking if Della wasn't there.

Willie Justice Strickland

The Degree of Bachelor of Science

Activities: H. C. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 2; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, 2, 3; Minnesingers, 1, 2, 3, 4; Vice-President, 3; Business Manager, 4; Student Affairs Board, 3, 4; Quaker Staff, 4; Choral Society, 3, 4; Vice-President, 4.

"Strick" is a likeable chap with an abundance of good humor and a cheery word for everyone. He is a quiet, unassuming chap who refuses to push himself forward, but he can always be relied on to accomplish his tasks well. He has been a mainstay in the Glee Club for four years. Besides his numerous other activities Justice has found time to inoculate a large amount of physics into his system, for which he expects to find use in his chosen profession.

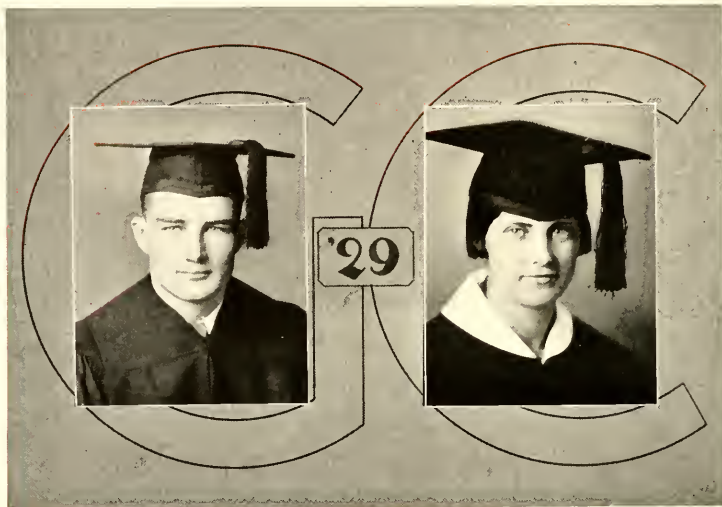

Neola Steed

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: P. L. S., 1, 2, 4; Chorus, 4.

Neola, a fair damsel who tip-toed in the college gates lest some one see her enter. We have never yet found out any thing about Neola to dislike, but we have learned to like her quiet manner and keen wit a great deal. She is a splendid example of the type of person that makes herself felt without either of you being aware of it.

Robert Van der Voort

The Degree of Bachelor of Science

Activities: H. C. L. S., 1, 2, 3; Minnesingers, 1, 2, 3; President, 3; Student Affairs Board, 2, 3; Men's Student Council, 1, 2; Class President, 2; College Marshal, 3; Varsity Basketball Squad, 1, 2, 3; Varsity Tennis Team, 1, 2, 3; Chemistry Laboratory Assistant, 2, 3; Applicant for Rhodes Scholarship, 3.

He might have labored under a false illusion once, but never again—that's "Van." Despite the fact that he is an "A" student he has outgrown all the degrading marks that this misfortune lends. Through hard work and perseverance he has become one of Guilford's best basketball players. Always earnest in his efforts and sincere in his convictions. We prophesy for him worthy attainments in future ventures.

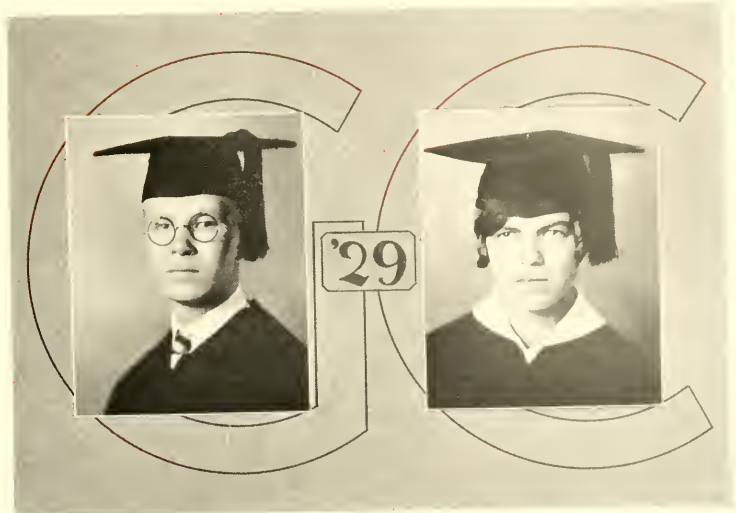

Carrie Nation Teague

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: Z. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Class Hockey, 1, 2, 3; Choral Club, 1, 2; Euphonian, 4; Class Baseball, 1, 2, 3; Guilfordian Staff, 4; Class Secretary, 4; Fall Play, 4

"Jim" is the Senior class comedian. Not only is she game for everything; but she is good at everything, from going to sleep on Education to legging the professors. Her sense of humor has won many friends for her. If "Jim" should ever do anything as rash as to revise the Bible we're positive the first command would be: "Take it easy, have your fun, let the old world flicker on."

Richard Goode Wharton

The Degree of Bachelor of Science

Activities: H. C. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Class Treasurer, 4; Captain Class Volley Ball Team, 2, 3; Treasurer Chemistry Club, 2; President County Club, 4; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, 1, 2, 3, 4.

From the above picture it would be useless for us to go to great length in discussion of Wharton's physiognomy. But allow us to state that the finest metal is often camouflaged in sordid dress. "Richie" is a man with many good qualities, among these, patience and perseverance. His disposition makes him liked by all and an enemy to none. As a class treasurer he worries us all—that is those of us who don't pay our dues.

Nellie Victoria Thomas

Activities: P. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; President, 4; Treasurer, 3; Y. W. A. A. President, 4; Secretary, 3; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, 3; Class Hockey Team, 1, 2, 3, 4; Captain, 2, 3; Class Basketball Team, 2, 3; Class Baseball Team, 2, 3; Class Volley Ball Team, 3, 4; Class Track, 2, 3; Hockey Varsity, 2; Class Debating Team, 2; Chorus, 3, 4; Baseball Varsity, 2; Track Captain, 2.

We present Nell Thomas as one of the most generous, understanding, and sympathetic girls in our class. Whenever an emergency arises for help, whether it be in making candy or in translating French, she is always ready to do more than her share. She takes a great interest in all the activities on the campus, even to the petty game of "snap." Her disposition has endeared her to the hearts of everyone of us, and her happy-go-lucky air makes you like her in spite of yourself.

Nancy Moorman White

The Degree of Bachelor of Science

Activities: P. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 3; Y. W. A. A. Secretary, 3; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, 3.

Nancy, a citizen of Virginia by birth and North Carolina by choice, is the possessor of more wit and good humor than the proverbial Freshman. Take life easy and remember that worry kills more people than hard work, is Nancy's philosophy of life and she adheres to it rigidly. Nancy is true to her friends, of which she has a large number, and she is liked and admired by all. Unless the signs fail, her major in home economics will soon be put to practical use.

Mary Lou Wilkins

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Activities: P. L. S., 1, 2, 3, 4; President, 4; Philomathean Oratorical Contest, 1; Euphonian, 4; Guilfordian Board, 1, 2; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, 2, 3, 4; Vice-President, 4.

"Tiny" is the star actor of the Senior class, both on the stage and off. She conceives life as a play which is to be taken neither too seriously nor yet too lightly. Her crowning asset is a mass of auburn hair which is at once the object of the admiration of all the boys and the envy of all the girls. "Tiny" possesses that priceless asset, the ability to make friends at will and she has utilized this trait as much as possible. She is capable, comprehending, intellectual, and at the same time has the capacity to enjoy life and its many diversified parts.

QUEEN CITY PRINTING COMPANY
A complete service for school annuals
CHARLOTTE, N. C.

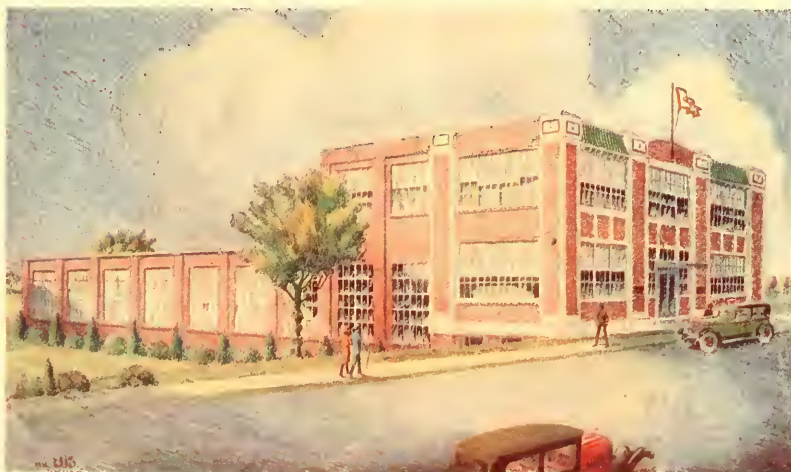

THE TRUE ATMOSPHERE OF SCHOOL AND COLLEGE

WE endeavor, in producing school annuals, to render a helpful and constructive service directed toward enabling a student staff to get out a representative, distinctive book within their budget.

In connection with our new and modern printing plant we maintain a large Art and Service Department where page borders, cover designs, division pages, and complete decorative and illustrative motifs are created and worked out.
